Strict Secrecy To Guard Fleet Movements on Pacific Ocean

Newspaper Men Barred

DU BOSE TESTIFIES
Atlantic Fleet Would
Cost $3,200,000,-
000, He Says

Washington—(AP)—The navy surrounded with wartime secrecy today its forthcoming fleet maneuvers in the Pacific where more than 50,000 men and officers will test the fighting strength of 150 warcraft.

Naval officials disclosed the secrecy order while the house naval committee heard Rear Admiral William G. DuBose, chief of naval construction, testify it would cost $3,200,000,000 to provide a separate fleet to defend the Atlantic coast.

The navy's order barred newspaper representatives from all the fighting craft which will maneuver over the Pacific from Alaska to Samoa and the Panama canal from the middle of March to late April.

The decision, the navy said, was made by Secretary Swanson after conferences with Admiral William D. Leahy, chief of operations, and the fleet commander-in-chief, Admiral Claude C. Bloch.

'Confidential' Problem
The only explanation given was that fleet problem No. 19, to be worked out in six weeks of mock warfare, was "highly confidential."

Testifying before the house naval committee, DuBose said an independent Atlantic fleet would require 165 fighting ships costing about $2,800,000,000 and 53 auxiliary vessels at a cost of approximately $400,000,000.

Such a fleet, he said, could be built in about 10 years if the facilities at both navy and private shipyards were expanded sufficiently.

DuBose outlined the size and cost of an Atlantic fleet in response to questions propounded several days ago by Representative Brewster (R-Maine).

Estimates Needed
DuBose said the fighting craft necessary for adequate defense in the Atlantic would include 12 battleships, 6 aircraft carriers, 17 heavy cruisers, 18 light cruisers, 77 destroyers and 26 submarines.

The 20 per cent increase in naval strength being studied by the committee would give the navy only three more battleships and brings its total in this category to 18.

DuBose's testimony was received when the committee resumed hearings to inquire into the cost of an additional 1,000 airplanes.

The navy already is authorized to acquire approximately 2,000 planes—the number considered necessary for a fleet built up to the limits of the abandoned Washington and London arms treaties.

The administration proposes to give the navy 1,000 extra sky fighters, which would raise the cost of the bigger navy program to well over $1,000,000,000.

$87,000,000 Estimate
DuBose already has estimated the government would have to spend $87,000,000 for the 47 combatant vessels and 22 auxiliaries proposed in a bill by Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) of the naval committee.

Should additional auxiliaries be built in line with recommendations of Admiral William Leahy, chief of naval operations, DuBose said the shipbuilding program alone would cost $1,050,000,000.

Some members of congress have indicated they might attempt to obtain an authorization for fewer battleships and more aircraft.

Their efforts have revived arguments on whether planes or ships are more effective in modern warfare.

Leahy has testified that a battleship could be destroyed from above "provided it is hit often enough in the right places," but that it could inflict "terrific losses" on the attacking aircraft while the bombing was in progress.

Currently, the navy has estimated it would require 800 bombing

'JOE' GETS ADVICE FROM 'AL'

Joseph P. Kennedy (left), newly-appointed Ambassador to England, received some "advice" from Al Smith at a luncheon in New York. Smith said, "Mr. Kennedy is a self-made man and as such he knows that war can solve nothing." Kennedy promised "to do the very best I can."

Pershing Gains Ground In Fight for Life; Heart Condition Is Improving

Tucson, Ariz.—(AP)—Physicians attending John J. Pershing said today, following a lengthy consultation, that the 77-year-old World War leader "is definitely better."

A statement issued by Dr. Roland Davidson after he and Lieutenant Colonel S. U. Marietta had completed an examination said the condition of his heart, which caused considerable anxiety yesterday and last night following a sudden relapse, "is entirely satisfactory."

"He had a much better night and is entirely free from pain. He ate a good breakfast and is mentally alert," said the bulletin.

Indian Arrested in Wounding of Woman

Black River Falls, Wis.—(AP)—Sheriff George Dottinger said today he was holding an Indian who had admitted firing the shot last Wednesday which seriously wounded Mrs. Joseph Jonas, 22, a game warden's wife, as she was riding in an automobile.

The sheriff said the man was taken into custody at an Indian mission settlement near Black River Falls Sunday night.

District Attorney Hans Hanson of Jackson county said he was investigating the suspect's story and that a warrant or warrants would be issued later today in connection with the Jonas shooting and possibly a number of other offenses in which he said the suspect and several other Indians were believed implicated.

Hanson said car theft apparently was the motive for firing the shot that penetrated the door of the Jonas car and wounded Mrs. Jonas so seriously that removal of one kidney was necessary. The woman is reported improving in a hospital here.

Flood Threatens Town in Arkansas

Inhabitants Preparing to Leave but Hope Levee
Will Hold

Fullon, Ark.—(AP)—Raging waters of the Red river today threatened to force evacuation of this little southwest Arkansas town, where more than a century ago French and Spanish traders bartered to the Indians goods brought upstream from New Orleans.

A few townspeople departed last night but most remained, hopeful that the giant protecting levee again would perform the task for which it was built more than 30 years ago.

The stream, at an all-time high of 25.7 feet, was several feet higher than the town itself, snuggling behind the dike, and lapped within a few inches of the top of the levee. The previous high stage, in 1927, was 35.6.

Most of the majority of the 593 inhabitants did not flee was summed up by Ben A. Wilson, a resident for the past 29 years:

"Most of the people have lived here so long they are not afraid—they just can't believe that the levee won't hold."

A levee break three miles east of here aggravated Fullon's situation. Water pouring through the break started backing up toward the town. Two hundred and fifty WPA workers and scores of volunteers threw up an emergency levee in an attempt to halt the backwater.

Committee Backs War On Venereal Diseases

Washington—(AP)—A far flung federal campaign against venereal disease, backed with $9,000,000 in government funds, won approval of the senate commerce committee today.

The committee asked the senate to enact legislation permitting nationwide drive against syphilis and gonorrhea under the public health service.

Chairman Copeland (D-N. Y.) of the commerce committee, who is a physician, said the war against these diseases must be fought on "34 fronts" in order to avoid the "sporadic, unconcentrated local action."

The bill provides federal aid for "states, counties, health units and other public subdivisions of the states in establishing and maintaining adequate measures for control of venereal diseases."

The senate committee recommended expenditure of $3,000,000, and $5,000,000 respectively in the next two fiscal years.

S. Parker Gilbert Dies
In New York Hospital

New York—(AP)—S. Parker Gilbert, partner in J. P. Morgan and company, and former agent general for reparations, died at the Doctor's hospital today.

An announcement from the Morgan offices said death was caused by cardio-nephritis.

Gilbert was born at Bloomfield, N. J., Oct. 13, 1882, and graduated from Harvard in 1915. He was agent general for reparations payments from Germany from Oct. 30, 1924 to May 17, 1930.

He had been a partner in J. P. Morgan and Company since Jan. 2, 1931.

Janesville—(AP)—Boyd Rasmussen, 54, and Leonard Wall, 55, Janesville farm equipment salesman, were instantly killed late yesterday when their car was struck by a Milwaukee road passenger train at the grade crossing of a township road, three miles southeast of the city. Their car was sliced in two.

Vermont Senator Wants
Communities to Pay
Fourth of Cost

Washington—(AP)—Senator Austin (R-Vt.) attempted in the senate today to amend the $250,000,000 emergency relief bill so as to force most communities to contribute 25 per cent of the cost of WPA projects in cash or materials.

Austin's proposal was a variation of the pending Bailey amendment, to require cities to provide 25 per cent in cash unless the president found that certain local communities were unable to pay that much.

Quick passage of the relief bill was forced when Minority Leader McNary (R-Or.) said Republicans would support it on the final ballot.

Secretary Perkins, meanwhile reported that employment and wage earners' incomes showed a marked reduction during January.

"It is estimated that there were 1,300,000 fewer workers employed on non-agricultural jobs in January than in December," she said.

"This reduction coupled with the decline of November and December, has brought employment down by 2,800,000 since October. . . .

"The decrease in total wages from the December level amounted to nearly $20,000,000 a week."

Minor Bills in House
While the senate debated relief, the house considered minor bills for less than an hour and then adjourned.

Members of both branches discussed privately an assertion by Paul V. McNutt, high commissioner to the Philippines, that he was not a candidate for any public office.

A senate-house disagreement over the $250,000,000 emergency relief bill was in prospect today.

Seeks $4,000,000 Under Escheat Act

Philadelphia Lawyer Expects to Collect for Being 'Informant'

Philadelphia—(AP)—A Philadelphia attorney who hunts hidden treasure with a law book instead of a spade expected today to add nearly $4,000,000 to his bank balance as an "informant" under Pennsylvania's escheat law.

At Michael Edelman's behest the Dauphin county court yesterday ordered State Secretary of Revenue J. Griffith Boardman to collect $16,000,000 in unclaimed corporation funds.

The court ruled a 1929 law entitled Edelman to 25 per cent of net collections because he filed the information on which the state can base its claim to the "lost" money.

Edelman estimated that collection would cost $540,000, leaving him a split of approximately $3,460,000—to be paid him after the money actually is in the state treasury.

The funds, including unclaimed dividends, stock and debts on which interest has matured, are held by 150 corporations, some of them railroads and major utilities.

By escheat, such funds revert to the state when citizens fail to claim them after seven years, but ordinarily no action is taken until the original owners die.

A 1927 law closed the door against further informers' suits to escheat funds held by railroads, utilities and insurance companies by requiring them to report all unclaimed funds direct to the state.

Supervision Transfer Approved by Governor

Madison—(AP)—Governor LaFollette signed orders today transferring supervision of the state schools for the blind and deaf from the board of control to the department of public instruction.

In another order the governor transferred the licensing office to the tax commission.

The changes were approved by the state government reorganization committee at a conference with Governor LaFollette.

Japanese Create Reign of Terror In Central China

Hankow, China—(AP)—Foreign and Chinese sources reported today that a state of terror had gripped areas of central China as a result of severe punitive measures taken by the Japanese army following recent successes of Chinese guerrilla forces.

The burning of a score of villages along the Hwai river in central Anhwei province, the killing of more than 1,000 Chinese peasants and mistreatment of Chinese women were reported.

The area mentioned recently has been one of the most bitterly contested battlefields in the huge fight for the Lungai railway.

Chinese who said they were eye-witnesses declared 2,000 Chinese residents of Tsining, bitterly contested city in southern Shantung province, had been killed by Japanese troops, embittered by their heavy casualties in the five-weeks battle for the city. These Chinese said many women in Tsining had been assaulted or carried away by Japanese.

Jap Island Colony

'Numerous Casualties' Reported in Attack Upon Formosa

Tokio—(AP)—Chinese warplanes today raided Japan's island colony of Formosa, killing at least 8 persons and wounding 29 in the first aerial bombardment suffered by any part of the Japanese empire.

The Formosa government general announced that three of seven persons killed at Taihoku, the colonial capital, were children. One person was killed at Shenchiku city, near the island's northwest coast.

Chikito, near Shenchiku, also was raided and Domei Japanese news agency, said several civilians were killed there. These were not included in the government figures.

Tokio—(AP)—Seven Chinese warplanes raided Japan's island colony of Formosa today, inflicting "numerous casualties," Domei Japanese news agency reported.

It was the first time since 1864, when a British-French fleet bombarded Shimonoseki, that territory of the Japanese empire had been subjected to hostile foreign bombardment. It was the empire's first air raid.

An hour before noon, the raiders swung over the Japanese air base on the outskirts of Taihoku, Formosa capital, and dropped 10 bombs. A city of 276,000, Taihoku is near the northern tip of the island, approximately 120 miles east of the southeastern coast of China.

There was only slight damage to the field.

The raiders then bombarded points in Shenchiku province, on the western coast of the island.

An army communiqué charged that the Chinese planes killed or wounded women and children at Hainoku and Shenchiku city.

No 'Serious Damage'
It said that "an obscure number" of planes appeared over the colonial capital, lying at such an altitude that anti-aircraft guns were unable to reach them. "Consequently the bombs landed far from the local airbase, hitting private houses and causing several casualties among women and children. There was no serious damage."

The communiqué said Shenchiku city was bombed in the same manner an hour later.

(The Japanese consulate-general at Hong Kong announced several civilians were killed at Taihoku. It said 10 bombs were dropped on Shenchiku, but the raiders were driven off by Japanese planes. There were a few casualties at Shenchiku, but no serious damage.

(A general air alarm was sounded throughout the island, and the "all clear" signal was not given until 3:42 p. m.)

Bobby Jones Loses in Suit to Recover Taxes

Macon, Ga.—(AP)—Federal Judge Bascom S. Beaver ruled today Robert Tyre "Bobby" Jones, Jr., Atlanta retired golf champion, cannot recover $53,333.37 income taxes for 1931 and 1933.

Jones sought to recover taxes imposed on sums paid by Warner Brothers Pictures, Inc. to his father, as trustee, for Bobby's work in a series of motion pictures.

The golfer and his father, Robert P. Jones, Atlanta lawyer, testified the sums were held in trust for use of the golfer's three minor children.

Commons Give Chamberlain
330 to 168 Vote

London—(AP)—The British labor party and trades union council issued a manifesto today demanding that the government submit its foreign policy to an immediate general election.

"The government holds no mandate for the vital change it has made in foreign policy," the manifesto declared.

(The dominantly conservative national government campaign for support in the election of 1935 with pledges of fidelity to the League of Nations, which Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain yesterday accused of "sham and pretence" in its efforts to safeguard European peace.)

The demand that Chamberlain's cabinet go to the country followed two consequences of the resignation of Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and the substitution of "realistic diplomacy" for his "idealism."

They were:

1. Failure yesterday of the opposition in the house of commons to pass a motion of censure on Chamberlain's foreign policy.

2. Forecasts in political circles today of an early approach to Germany on the lines of the prime minister's "realistic" bid for the friendship of Italy Premier Mussolini.

Joachim von Ribbentrop, Reich's foreign minister, new foreign minister and retiring ambassador to Britain, was reported in unofficial German circles to be coming to London shortly.

London—(AP)—British government opposition gathered strength today for continued attacks against the nation's new foreign policy of European appeasement outside the League of Nations.

As Prime Minister Chamberlain prepared to start British-Italian friendship talks, organizations representing the opposition labor party, trade unions and League of Nations peace associations arranged for further demonstrations like that in the house of commons yesterday.

The opposition backed the idealism of Anthony Eden, who resigned the foreign secretaryship rather than pursue Italian friendship talks under circumstances which he held would indicate Britain was yielding to pressure from the fascist Premier Mussolini.

Alleged Spy Runs For Congress Seat

Arvid W. Jacobson, Sentenced in Finland, Enters Michigan Race

Houghton, Mich.—(AP)—Arvid W. Jacobson, former school teacher who spent two years in a Finnish prison after being accused of acting as a spy for the Russian government in Finland, has announced his candidacy for the Democratic congressional nomination in the Twelfth Michigan district.

Representative Frank E. Hook, Democrat from Ironwood, is a candidate to succeed himself.

Jacobson, 34 years old, is a graduate of the University of Michigan and a former teacher of mathematics at Northville, Mich. He was born at Watton, Michigan county, Michigan. He now resides at South Range, in Houghton county, and has been employed in a lumber camp as a logger.

He went to Finland in January, 1933, to study and in October of that year he and his wife, Sally Halana Jacobson, and eight other persons were arrested in a raid upon Helsinki's house party.

Mrs. Jacobson was exonerated and released. He was tried with 28 others before a Finnish court which heard testimony for nine weeks and all were convicted. Jacobson was sentenced to serve five years at hard labor but was pardoned in July, 1936.

Negro Purse Snatcher Beats Woman Victim

Washington—(AP)—Miss Kathryn Goodwin, 33, an employee of the social security board, was beaten unconscious last night, she told police, by a Negro purse snatcher. She formerly lived in Madison, Wis.

Miss Goodwin, who was treated for a broken nose and a probable brain concussion, said the Negro struck her repeatedly in the face when she screamed and tried to fight after he grabbed her pocketbook.

The robber escaped with $25, eluding a policeman who chanced upon the scene, in the 700 block of Sixteenth street, N.W.

Miss Goodwin, social security field representative for the north-west region with headquarters at Minneapolis, Minn., was in Washington for conferences. She was associated with the Wisconsin Public Welfare department until last May. She has been in welfare service 12 years.

Gives Credit to Ordinance

"The intermingling of various racial stocks in Wisconsin when the state was settled created the most just, tolerant and progressive social group in the nation," said Joseph Schaefer, Madison, superintendent of the state historical society in an address on "The Significance of the Old Northwest in American History" before about 250 members of the Outagamie County Pioneer and Historical society yesterday at the Masonic Temple.

All officers of the society were reelected and four new directors were named at a business session of the group yesterday morning. New directors are Judge Edgar V. Werner, Charles Hoffensperger, George Bussey and Miss Ada Meyers, all of Appleton, who will replace Martin Boldt, Appleton, Nick Breuhl, Sherwood, Roy Harriman, Appleton, and one other who died during the year.

Louis F. Nelson, Kaukauna, was reelected president of the society. Others to hold offices during the coming year are: A. L. Collier, Hortonville, first vice president; Dr. Breuhl, second vice president; Dr. John J. Laird, Black Creek, third

One Dead, 31 Hurt as Truck Derails Train

Chicago—(AP)—Thirty-one persons today nursed bruises and other injuries sustained in the derailment of six cars of a northbound Wabash railroad train after the St. Louis—Chicago limited collided with a truck at a crossing in suburban Worth. The truck driver was killed.

Seven members of Hal Kemp's orchestra were among those given first aid at the scene or removed to a hospital.

The train was about 20 minutes late and was running at high speed yesterday when it reached Worth. Frank Gregson, 40, the truck driver, apparently applied the brakes but his vehicle skidded in the snow and ice, witnesses said.

Railroad officials dispatched a special relief train to the scene. Rescuers smashed windows to reach the surprised passengers.

Maxine Gray, 23, Shreveport, La., vocalist with Kemp's orchestra, was lifted out unconscious. She suffered injuries to her back and head. Miss Gray and Bruce Milligan, 26, of Boston, Mass., a saxophonist were among those taken to a hospital. The other injured members of the orchestra were able to rejoin the band for its regular performance last night.

Deny Negotiations Between Japs, Mexico

Tokio—(AP)—The foreign office spokesman today denied reports Japan and Mexico were contracting for Japanese engineers to do construction work at Mazatlan harbor.

"We are inclined to suspect the rumor was spread by persons attempting to damage the good understanding between the United States and Japan," the spokesman said.

He mentioned press reports from America which said Mexico would grant Japan iron mining rights along the Pacific coast in return for the construction work.</

Ickes Speech Seen As Expression of Washington Hopes

Observers at Capital Think Secretary Reflects Official View

Washington—(P)—Secretary Ickes' call for Anglo-American unity against fascism and communism—avowedly made in the role of a private citizen—received immediate interpretation by Washington observers today as a general expression of official hopes.

These observers pointed out that Britons who heard a radio speech by Ickes yesterday necessarily would judge these words against a background of his position as a member of President Roosevelt's cabinet.

"The community of interest that exists between Britain and America, as well as between other peoples who believe in democracy, should be strengthened."

"Democracy can not live side by side in the same country with either fascism or communism, totalitarianism, either of the right, or the left, is alien to the spirit that dominates the English-speaking democracies of the world."

Speaks as Individual

Ickes, emphasizing that he spoke only as an individual, said the president alone is "charged with responsibility for foreign affairs."

He was reported to have written his address before the resignation of Anthony Eden, Great Britain's foreign minister, but that occurrence and the general European situation serving as a special interest in his comments.

His speech was carried by the British Broadcasting company to the greater part of the United Kingdom as the first of several programs by Americans.

Senator Borah (R-Idaho) said he believed England, by her gestures of friendship to Germany and Italy, had abandoned any hope that she could depend on America as an ally in war.

Republicans Will Vote for Relief Bill, McNary Says

because of the senate's demand that the money be spent as rapidly as necessary.

The senate adopted that provision, 38 to 36, after Senator Schwelmbach (D-Wash.) pointed out yesterday that under present law the emergency appropriation would have to last until June 30.

Several senators forecast the house would not agree to the change, inasmuch as that chamber originated the requirement that funds be spread over a fiscal year. They expected a joint committee would have to be appointed to work out a compromise.

Adoption of Schwelmbach's Proposal

Adoption of Schwelmbach's proposal was the signal for other senators to seek changes in the bill, and the prolonged debate upset plans of administration leaders for a final vote last night.

The senate also adopted an amendment by Senator LaFollette (P-Wis.) to the bill which would permit use of the relief money for WPA projects which produce material for fertilizer. The amendment would permit resumption of lime crushing projects in Wisconsin.

Senator Minton (D-Ind.) proposed an amendment permitting works progress administration employees to hold public office, a practice now banned.

Senator Austin (R-Vt.) suggested committee be authorized to meet their share of relief costs by furnishing materials instead of cash.

Vote Moratorium Extension

From Senator Bailey (D-N.C.) came an admission that he had little hope of a favorable vote on his proposal to require local communities to contribute 25 per cent of the cost of relief projects.

He protested against expenditure of relief funds for "country clubs, golf courses and ski" courses.

The senate sent to the White House yesterday a bill approving a two-year extension of the Frazier-Lemke Moratorium act. It provides that farmers whose payments on mortgaged lands are in arrears may prevent foreclosure for three years by meeting certain conditions.

The senate interstate commerce committee began a hearing on the long-and-short haul railroad rate bill, passed by the house last year. It would liberalize prohibitions against fixing a lower proportionate rate for a long haul than the same route.

The house was considering minor legislation until the tax revision and naval expansion bills are ready.

Purdue Coed Bakes Best Cherry Pie in Contest

Chicago—(P)—Mary E. Wien, comely 20-year-old Purdue university coed, looked forward today to a visit with Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt at Washington—a prerequisite of the national cherry pie baking championship.

After looking over the cherry pies baked by eight contestants yesterday the national cherry pie committee decided Miss Wien's was the best. The trip to Washington, $100 and the national championship constituted her reward.

Eleanor, 16, of Clyde, Ohio, won second place and $50 in the contest. Third prize, $25, went to Annabelle Jones, 18, of St. Joseph, Mich. Edna Bauman, Madison, was fifth and not $10.

Opponents Plan to Open New Attacks On British Policy

"the frightful question" of war, was reassured by the policy of practical dealing by a 150 to 166 vote of confidence from the house of commons.

Conference Tomorrow

The conservative party premier planned to confer tomorrow with Viscount Halifax, acting as temporary foreign secretary, and with the earl of Perth, British ambassador to Rome who was called back to London for instructions on the Italian talks.

Lord Perth was expected to return to Rome immediately after seeing his chief and on to open negotiations with the Italian foreign minister, Count Galeazzo Ciano.

Some members of the opposition indicated former cooperation with government policies would be changed to constant attacks in parliament with questions like:

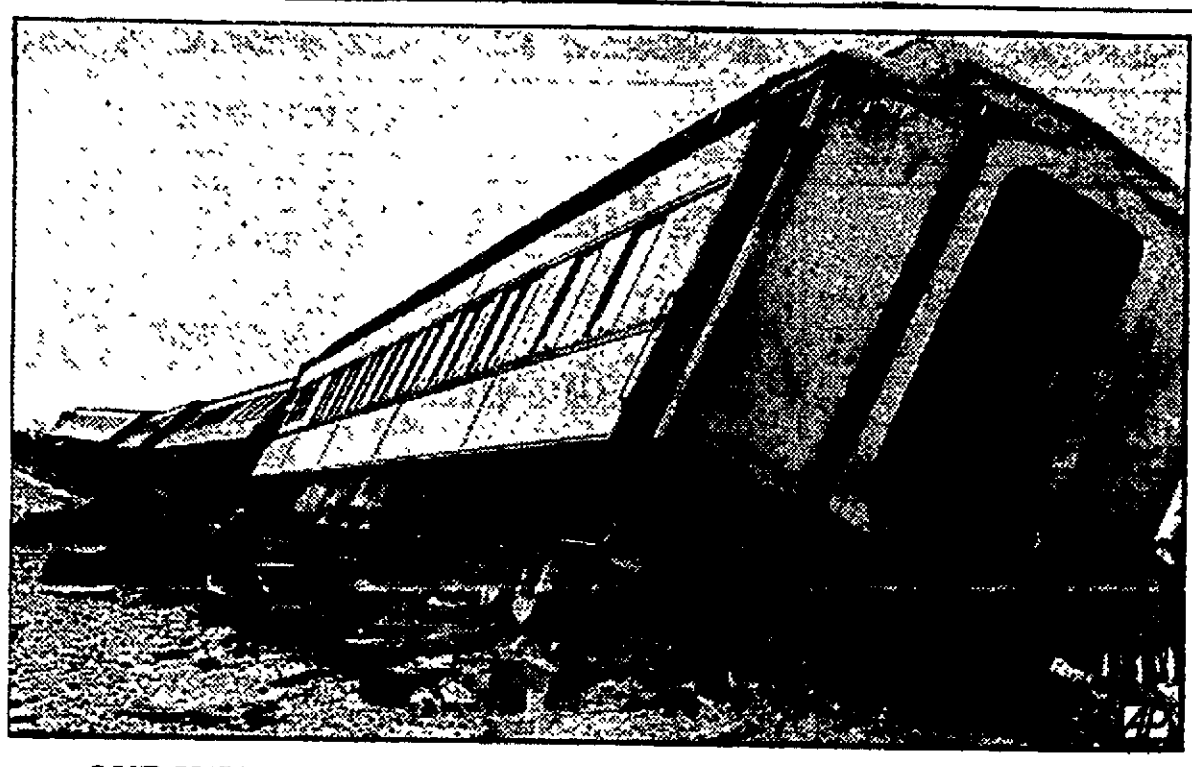

"Is Mussolini delivering the goods?"

Eden's friends said he would explain fully his position on Friday before his Warwickshire constituents.

Premier Chamberlain, in parliament yesterday, rejected as a "sham" the League of Nations idea of fighting aggression by force.

His statement "I still have faith the league may be reconstituted," raised the question whether a new conception of the league might emerge from the Italian-British agreement.

'Not Candidate for Public Office,' McNutt Says Prior To Washington Reception

Washington—(P)—Paul V. McNutt, high commissioner to the Philippines, said today of reports that he aspires to the 1940 Democratic presidential nomination "I am not a candidate for any public office."

Not "At End of Limb"

The former Indiana governor made this assertion at a press conference a few hours before he was to be the guest of honor at a spectacular reception arranged by Indiana political leaders who desire to give him a boost toward the White House.

Although McNutt, talking to a score of reporters, parried political questions, his followers were frank to say they held high ambitions for him.

The handsome 48-year-old official was asked whether the Indiana group would not be "putting you out on a limb" because of the obviously political import of this afternoon's huge party.

"My friends in Indiana," McNutt responded quickly, "have never placed me on the end of a limb."

Asked whether he favored a third term for President, McNutt said, "that is a question the president of the United States will answer."

Another question was whether McNutt would consider the vice presidency in event he failed of the presidential nomination in 1940. The tanned, prematurely gray-haired former governor, answered:

"Heavens and earth, that's two years off."

"I am not a candidate for any public office," he said deliberately. "I'm giving my time and energy and thought to American-Philippine relations."

Back to Islands

McNutt said he would go back to the islands and "stay there as long as I'm needed," when he had wound up the affairs which brought him to Washington. Officially he came here primarily to make a report to the president on Far Eastern conditions.

Turning to his flight in an army plane from Hamilton field, Calif., to Denver, Colo., a few days ago, McNutt said his pilot, Colonel Davenport Johnson, was not the only officer informed of his plans.

He said that because he was running behind schedule in his journey eastward from the Philippines, he "made the perfectly routine request" for army plane transportation and that a plane was promised him by Major General George S. Simonds, corps area commander at San Francisco.

The big event of McNutt's day was the grand scale "coming out" Indiana Democrats had arranged for their former governor.

They took over a good share of the Mayflower hotel for a spectacular reception late this afternoon. Invitations went to 2,700 federal officials and other Washingtonians—"everybody who is anybody," commented one enthusiastic Indianan.

It was hinted broadly, however, that gatecrashers wouldn't be refused a chance to shake hands with the tall, white-haired high commissioner to the Philippines. As a result, the hotel chefs prepared tea-time tidbits for 4,000.

Ambitious Friends

The Indiana visitors, who preceded McNutt to the capital, bustled in and out of their 38 suites, greeting acquaintances and holding impromptu conferences. They would not comment on the 46-year-old McNutt's own aspirations, but Frank McHale, Indiana Democratic committeeman, said:

"His friends are ambitious for him."

The Indians made it plain that no formal campaign was being started at this time, but with winks and knowing looks, they expressed the opinion this was a good opportunity to put their candidate in the spotlight.

McNutt, who has held the Philippine post since he left the Indiana governor's chair last year, returned to the United States a few days ago for the expressed purpose of reporting to President Roosevelt on insular affairs.

Formal Calls

Senator Minton was the official host at the reception.

The party lacked the presence of two of the country's most prominent Democrats, President Roosevelt was in Hyde Park, N. Y., and National Chairman Farley was in Florida.

Soon after his arrival this morning, McNutt arranged to make formal calls on Secretary of State Hull and Secretary of War Woodring.

Friends said he probably would protest to Woodring against the transfer of Colonel Davenport Johnson from Hamilton field, Calif., to Chanute field, Ill.

The transfer was made public immediately after Johnson received an army plane—McNutt's suggestion—to fly McNutt and his administrative assistant, Wayne Cox, from San Francisco to Denver. The Colonel was reported to have made the trip without special authority from Washington.

The war department reported the transfer was a routine shift, determined on before the flight, but friends of Johnson and some of McNutt's followers argued it had disciplinary if not political implications.

Bartz Talks on National Defense

History Teacher Addresses Clintonville Auxiliary Unit

Clintonville—Melvin Bartz, history teacher at Clintonville high school, spoke on "National Defense" at the February meeting of the American Legion auxiliary unit Monday evening at the Knights of Columbus hall. Mr. Bartz talked especially on the present armaments race between nations. Asking the important question of the day, "Should America take the lead in the naval race?" the speaker said that if answered in the affirmative, the principal reason would be to protect the western hemisphere. A number of other reasons were also enumerated by the instructor. Patriotic songs were sung by the auxiliary members in observance of their program on "Americanism."

The evening closed with the serving of a luncheon by Mesdames Kenneth Darline, H. A. Schefelker, Earl Moldenhauer, A. A. Washburn and Otto Olen.

Mrs. O. C. Eberhardt entertained 20 guests at a Washington birthday party Tuesday afternoon at her home on N. Main street. Five tables of bridge were followed by a dinner. Honors were awarded to Mrs. G. A. Seidel and Mrs. L. A. Heuer.

Mrs. Ella Genskow was hostess to her bridge club Tuesday afternoon, when two tables were in play with a luncheon following the games. Those receiving prizes were Mrs. Harry Isaacson, first; Mrs. John Meinhardt, second; and Mrs. Ward Winchester, travel. Mrs. Edwin Hankartner was a guest.

Mrs. William Schumacher spent Tuesday at Madison and was accompanied back by her daughter, Mildred, who is convalescing from a three weeks' illness at the university infirmary. Miss Mildred is a sophomore student in the school of journalism.

Avoid Alliances In Europe, Badger Congressman Asks

Southoff Wants America to Heed Washington's Warning

Washington—(P)—Representative Harry Southoff (P-Wis.) in an address broadcast last night over Station WOL demanded that this country's foreign policy be kept in line with George Washington's warning against involvement in European affairs. He spoke on a program sponsored by the National Council for Prevention of War.

Idealists still believe in the efficacy of the League of Nations, Representative Southoff said, and continue to try to inveigle the United States into such a league.

"Let us be realists," he said, "and admit that European diplomacy has been and still is a combination of treachery and deceit. We talk about the League of Nations, about sanctions, and about collective security. Sanctions failed because some nations would not cooperate. The League of Nations is a complete failure and now the leagueites are luring us with a new scheme called collective security. This is simply a new paint job for the battered old league."

Threat to Democracies

"Always someone advances the idea that we must 'save democracy' the last time we tried it, we almost destroyed all democracy on the face of the globe. One more rescue job like that and we will finish off the rest of the democracies, including our own."

Southoff reviewed the five-point resolution he introduced in the house several weeks ago calling upon the president to clarify his reasons for calling for huge additional expenditures for national defense.

He said that the United States has made infrequent and inconsistent use of the neutrality act and referred to President Roosevelt October, 1937, Chicago speech against "pirate nations."

"The president used strong language then, and I believe he meant what he said," stated Southoff, "but why did he then permit the sale of arms and munitions, and permit the lending of money to Japan so that she may more successfully continue her piratical purposes? Why call a man a murderer when, and if, you send him the automatic and the cartridges with which to do his murdering? It is a Janus-faced policy."

Asks About Defense

Southoff said he would like to know what the United States aims to defend with its additional $1,000,000,000 worth of navy equipment, whether just the defense of continental boundaries, or whether it implies a defense of the Alaska-Hawaii-Panama canal triangle.

To adequately police Pacific and South American waters, this nation would need a navy four or five times its present size, Southoff said, and one that would be tremendously expensive.

"I believe a better plan would be to strengthen our air defenses," said the congressman. "For several hundred million dollars we could build bombing planes that could move over-night from one part of the country to another and rain down tons of explosive on an invader. The air fleet could be built in only a year and a half."

Representative Southoff advocated formation of a department of national defense to correlate land, air, and sea defense preparations. He said present conflicting army and navy programs were un-unified.

He announced his unalterable opposition to an alliance with Great Britain. He said the British still owed us $4,000,000,000 from the last war, failed to back this country's protest to Japan over the invasion of Manchuria several years ago, and showed little initiative in the recent Brussels conference.

Great Britain, with territory to defend all over the globe will need more help than she could give us, Southoff concluded.

Describes Scenes in Teruel After Insurgent Forces Recapture City

BY DWIGHT L. PITKIN

Teruel, Spain—(P)—A 7-year-old girl can't find her father and mother.

A tired, white-haired man, wounded in the shoulder, is glad the fighting is over. One day he came home and found his wife shot dead. He stayed through weeks of siege and says he won't leave home now.

Two boys sing when they see the food trucks. They had been eating meat.

Except for a cleanup of snipers which victorious insurgents think may be hidden in the ruins of caves, underneath this once-proud Aragon city, the battle of Teruel is ended. Last night pack mules of the insurgent sanitary corps plodded through the streets, carrying dead and wounded. Squads of insurgent soldiers pushed over tottering walls and cleared away debris.

Shell-splintered trees littered roads leading into the city. Most of the buildings which had been Teruel's pride before the civil war were in ruins.

Although damaged, the tower of the famous cathedral still was standing. The Aaragon hotel, the seminary convent and the military barracks virtually were destroyed.

Insurgents marched into the city yesterday, shouting, singing, and confident that they were protected by rings of troops in the outskirts. They occupied Teruel, which government forces had captured last December, after the trapped government garrison of 1,000 men raised a white flag over the seminary ruins.

The surrender ended costly street fighting which began when insurgents penetrated Teruel's outskirts Monday.

The Eighty-first insurgent division under Colonel Munoz Grande was the first to enter the city proper and put down scattered resistance. Before giving up, government troops had machine-gunned the besiegers from behind sandbag barricades.

Ask Improved Living Quarters at Illini U.

Urbana, Ill.—(P)—The Independent Students' association, at a mass meeting last night, unanimously adopted resolutions demanding improved living conditions for the 9,000 independent students at the University of Illinois.

Construction of two new dormitories on the campus and establishment of a low-cost restaurant and cooperative book exchange were among the recommendations made to university officials and the student senate.

planes to discharge the same amount of explosives as a battleship.

Since the life of a battleship is 26 years and that of a plane six years, navy officials figure that comparative aircraft strength would be 14 times as costly as battleships.

Aircraft proponents have suggested that modern science will be able to keep airplanes up to date more cheaply than will ever be possible in the case of dreadnaughts. They pointed to losses incurred in scrapping obsolete ships.

What the army and navy think of the "aerial mine" of Lester P. Barlow, Stamford, Conn., inventor, has not been disclosed. Army officials during the World war gave little encouragement to his projected "flying torpedo," with which he asserted "we can hit Chicago 50 times a minute from Washington."

Seek Extension of Time to Complete Senior High School

School Board Frames Plan To Install Light Fixtures Under PWA Grant

Two resolutions providing for extension of the completion date of the new senior high school from March 1 to June 15 and a redistribution of construction funds were approved by the board of education by the city council which will submit the requests to PWA authorities at Chicago.

Seymour Gmeiner, president of the board, said the 106-day extension is made necessary by a new plan to furnish and install light fixtures with the aid of PWA funds and would not affect present contracts. Originally, money for the light fixtures was to come from the school equipment fund, he explained. The time extension would be an agreement between the federal government and the school board, and other contractors desiring time extensions for their respective work would have to secure permission from the board, he continued.

Mr. Gmeiner estimated the time required for the light fixture contract as 14 days for preparing specifications, 21 days for advertising and awarding contract and 63 days for fabrication and installation. The resolution will supplant a former request made for an extension to May 20, sought because of inclement weather, delayed shipments and labor trouble.

The redistribution of construction funds ended substitution of $15,324.20 for the light fixture contract for exterior work, including concrete and landscaping which will be paid by the school board. The reallocation does not alter the original estimate of $881,621 for the school.

The board voted to purchase ornamental lights from standard stock and accepted a proposal of the Wadford Electric company of $2,796 for completing electrical work.

Approve Works Projects For State Communities

Oshkosh, $61,546 for sidewalks; Iron county, $199,930 for roads; Pierce county, $40,100, roads; Williams Bay, $2,084, streets; Maple Bluff, $6,548, streets; Alben, $3,494, improve park; Delavan, $10,218, sewers; Gay Mills, $9,889, complete municipal building; Spooner, $2,227, improve armory; West Milwaukee, $14,637, water mains; Tigerton, $4,262, recreation area; Shawanee, $7,501, improve hospital.

Total ticket sales were $122.85. Minus expenses this left $38.20, which added to $105.62 income from founders' certificates, gave the net profit of $143.82.

HIGH SCHOOL ARCHERS SHOW THEIR SKILL

Kaukauna — That these members of the Kaukauna High school Archery club are no mean shots may be seen from the arrows in the target's center. Norbert Kuba, right, and Jack Mainville are but two of over 30 boys enrolled in the club, organized under the direction of Clifford H. Kemp, physical education director. Contests are held from time to time underneath the auditorium, but with the coming of spring the archers will move outside. Mainville is the club champion, according to the results of recent shoots. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Archery Is Popular at Kaukauna High School

Kaukauna — One of the most popular extra-curricular activities at Kaukauna High school this year is offered by the Archery club, organized at the beginning of the school year by Clifford H. Kemp, physical education instructor. More than 20 members participate in the shoots which are held from time to time. Club members make or buy their own equipment. This consists of a bow, a half dozen arrows, glove, arm guard, quiver and a target. The target is four feet in diameter and is shot from a stand. The cost of initial equipment is about $3.50. Many members have reduced their starting expenses by making some of their own equipment.

Practices have been held this winter underneath the auditorium, where a target has been erected and a range of 40 yards is available. This spring the archers will move out into the open to shoot. The winners in two meets held by the club have been Jack Mainville and Floyd Stegeman. At present only boys belong to the club, but plans are being made to organize a girls organization and one for townpeople.

As a sport archery is valuable in developing the arms, chest and posture, Kemp said.

Members of the club with full equipment are Sylvanus Grignon, Melvin Courtney, Karl Kleeh, Jack Flanagan, John Velle, Floyd Stegeman, Lee Cooper, Jack Mainville, Norbert Kuba, James Sandhuvi, Leroy Thatcher, Willard Kiel, Howard Kreuger, George Noie, Kenneth Busse, Paul Kersten, Wilbert Auden, Ivan Schatzka, Donald Yingling, Tim McCarty, Harry Hopfensperger and Carl Hilgenberg.

The Pantry Lunch won the championship of the second half last Sunday by walloping the Gustman Chews in a playoff game after beating them a week ago Sunday to tie for the second half title. The Mellow Brews won the first half championship.

If previous scores mean anything the Mellow Brew cagers have a right to be confident. In their match during the first half of the season the Brews ran over the Lunchers to the tune of 39 to 26, and in the second squeezed out a three point victory at 20 to 17. The Pantry team has developed rapidly toward the close of the season, however, and probably will be a slight favorite over the Brews at game time.

Spectators who like to see lots of points should be right in their element, as the Brews and the Lunchers are the two highest scoring teams in the league. George Bloch, star Mellow Brew guard, easily won the league individual scoring championship, while two of the Pantry Lunch forwards, Art Koehne and Don Dix, were both in the first five.

APPLETON POST-CRESCENT

WISCONSIN'S DAIRYING.—AND THE WEALTH OF OTHER STATES

During the last century hundreds of millions of dollars of gold have been mined in Colorado, Nevada and California. Some of the finds have petered out but while they lasted they were bonanzas.

During relatively the same time coal built fortunes in Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Kentucky, and even Kansas. Copper and silver made fabulous fortunes for thousands of people in Montana and Arizona. Oil wells spouted to the tune of hundreds of millions of wealth in Texas, California and Oklahoma. Deposits of sulphur in Louisiana poured forth other gushing streams of constant income.

Due to the particular climate of Florida, Georgia and the rest of the south and southwest, extensive operations in the fruit industry have brought in lucrative results.

From all this amazing mountain of piling millions Wisconsin gained only the incidental benefit that accrues to all of us in the improvement or enrichment of any part of the country. Our mineral wealth was limited to a little iron ore in the north and some lead near the Iowa border.

Wisconsin never complained. We doubt if anyone ever heard its citizens whine about the lack of others. Rather were they deeply gratified at the good fortune that seemed to be striking around the country.

But Wisconsin has created great wealth. It didn't do so by stumbling across a lode of gold nor striking a geyser of oil while drilling a well. It created it laboriously, painfully and slowly through constant toil and sweat.

We should never permit ourselves to forget for a moment the humble origin of our immense dairy industry. For if there is any such thing as rightful ownership through originating and developing an industry then the title of Wisconsin to maintain leadership in this industry is beyond dispute.

Manufacturing cheese for the market began in Wisconsin about 75 years ago. But there was hardly any formula.

But our fathers of that day believed they saw opportunity. They asked for no Aladdin to rub a lamp but craved only the rightful privilege of work.

The dairy industry originated in farm houses. And log farm houses, too. It came when there was no refrigeration and no electric power to do the work. Willing, robust mothers of the family helped prodigiously despite the care of rearing children.

And Wisconsin kept its eyes open, its intelligence alert. It overcame many serious hurdles, avoided multiple and difficult obstructions. From a start at zero after the Civil war it reached the head of the caravan and then went out so far in advance that its leadership is undisputed.

When our national legislature views this history and then so directs its affairs that its conduct becomes a frontal attack upon such an industry so created, or it even moulds a hazard over that enterprise, we have arrived at a point where arguments fail and wrong is rampant.

No amount of twinkles argument should be permitted to wear us away from the truth. And the truth is one of two things depending upon ones viewpoint and reasoning processes, either (1) the national government is deliberately attempting to take away from Wisconsin part of its dairying prosperity and give it to the southland, or (2) it is indifferent to what happens to Wisconsin in this respect and is permitting our entire dairying industry to be jeopardized in order to throw out sops to the southland.

In either event no sign of statesmanship is evidenced.

Men who could deliberately jeopardize the well being of a great and honest industry so carefully constructed should be ashamed of their morals and their mentality.

FLIGHT STRIPS

Roadbuilders at their national convention recently discussed an interesting supplement for future highways. Every modern highway, they said, should have "flight strips." These would be sections of road about 300 feet long built alongside the regular highways, at intervals, to serve as landing and taking-off places for airplanes.

The idea seems good, but premature. Probably it can wait a little longer, except in special cases. Such strips could usually be added without much trouble as they were needed. The time will doubtless come. It will be hastened by the development of small planes for private use, and especially of combination craft that can either fly or, with folded wings, travel the highways. Some such models have already been produced.

WHITHER ARE WE GOING?
As Congress is presently passing a measure adding another 250 millions to relief isn't it about time the people of this country, individually and collectively, began to wonder to what point on the map or in history this country is drifting?

Happily, there will be very few, hardly any in fact, who will oppose the appropriation when convinced that people are in need. But how long is this system that produces this result going to continue?

Billions upon billions of dollars have already been borrowed and spent for relief with a prodigious hand. The more generously those billions have been strewn around the country the more firmly the administration that did the strewing became seated in the saddle.

It was a matter of cheers at first and "he's a jolly good fellow." Now it is a matter of dark doubt. How long can America keep this wretched procedure up? How long will it deliberately hold back or stifle its own prosperity? How long will it support an administration whose financial policies make bread lines, blot out the smoke above industries and build up billions of debt upon other billions of debt? Have the people become bewildered? And are they so bewildered their dizziness prevents straight thinking?

There is no better way to describe Mr. Roosevelt's financial policies than to compare them to the good hearted Poor Little Rich Boy who, seeing a haggard and hungry man at the gate, chained him there so he could have the privilege of feeding him ice cream and cake forever.

In the story, naturally enough, the Poor Little Rich Boy, who didn't know a great deal beyond his own gilded horizon, thought of the world began and ended in ice cream and cake.

All the man at the gate really wanted was work, the glorious privilege of sweating a reasonable number of hours every day in the highly satisfactory task of doing something worth while and receiving a fair consideration for his labor.

He hated ice cream and cake.

PRUNES AND BEANS
A survey of the food market in Toledo, O., reveals that, while most foods have become cheaper, the price of prunes remains the same. Likewise the quantity of prunes sold.

So here is one thing steady in a shaky world. People must have prunes regardless of economic conditions. The prune market is sustained by relief funds in hard times; and if five prunes made a "helping" before, whether in boarding house or private home, the number remains the same. Grown-ups may weary of them, but children usually like them, and they're nourishing and healthful.

One other foodstuff remains almost as steady. It's beans. But perhaps we would better not dwell on that theme, except to tell a true story.

A couple of years ago a friend and his wife, who had been having a hard time, were driving along a country road. Things had finally begun to improve a little, and they were talking it over. "Well," said the man, "there's one thing I'll certainly be glad about when this depression's over. I won't have to eat so many beans." "Same here!" replied the wife.

Just then a truck passed them. As it swung around a curve ahead, something fell out onto the road. When they reached the spot the truck had disappeared. The man stopped, climbed out, picked up the fallen object, looked at the label, and then sadly placed it in the back of his car. It was a 40-pound sack of beans.

LIFE IN UTILITIES

The utility market shows signs of revival. A few days ago $67,000,000 of new securities of the Appalachian Power Company comprising $57,000,000 of first mortgage bonds at 4 per cent and $10,000,000 of 4 1/2 per cent sinking fund bonds, were sold within a few hours of their issue. The latter, offered at 100 1/2, were snapped up immediately. The main block, offered at 98 1/2, soon rose about to par.

The company in question generates, buys and distributes electric power in a broad territory including Virginia, West Virginia, Tennessee and adjacent states. The sudden change in attitude of investment capital cheered financiers, in a field that has been very blue lately. Evidently a feeling is developing that there's life yet in private utilities.

INVENTION OF THE MONTH
All hail to David O. Wilson of Santa Monica, Calif., who has just patented the invention we've been waiting for. It is a mask-like mechanical face, with a rubber tongue and electrically lighted eyes, to be fastened on the rear of an automobile.

Say you are in a traffic jam and the driver behind you starts tooting his horn. You push a button. The eyes in the face on the back of your car light up. Mouth flies open. Tongue sticks out and waggles. And an apparatus delivers a rousing Bronx cheer.

You're being followed by a traffic cop—New York World-Telegram.

A survey made at Oxford university showed that although only 10 per cent of the students elect music, this 10 per cent wins 75 per cent of all prizes and scholarships.

An orange weighing three pounds and measuring 18 1/2 inches in circumference was produced recently in the Rio Grande valley.

IF THE CURRENT WINTER maintains its un-Wisconsin temperatures, I am afraid that we will have to keep the red flannels aboard until come next July. . . . it'll have to stay mild winter-like until then so the year can average up correctly. . . . and don't worry that it won't—the milder the winter, the longer it stays. . . . it better, or I am going to be several kinds of a liar in the eyes of a lad who came to Appleton last fall to spend his first winter this far north. . . . like a true resident of this place, I painted the place in terms of the winter of 1933-36, when the thermometer dropped to 28 below zero in the middle of January and stayed under zero for a month. . . . we have managed two fifteen belows so far this season and neither effort lasted long or was very convincing. . . . and as for the lad who came here to freeze, well — it's very embarrassing. . . . it gets about this cold in Ohio and he is not in the slightest bothered with the worst we have been able to produce for him this season. . . . every time I try to talk him into a chill he just looks at me with a smug expression and goes out with his overcoat unbuttoned. . . . why oh why did I ever open my trap about a "typical Wisconsin winter"?

Everybody admits it is a mild winter. Except the coal pile.

Yesterday was Washington's birthday, but I didn't dwell on it very much. The name "Washington" has come to be associated too strongly with the federal government.

And if people really turn in their graves, the Father of Our Country must be spinning like a Pan-American Clipper propeller when he sees what is going on in the town that we named after him.

And when he considers how the present occupant of the White House really feels about a third term.

Washington didn't want a third term. FDR wants it so much that it must gall his soul to hear of how people are grooming Paul McNutt for his job.

Although I would be willing to bet a quarter that McNutt will not be the fair haired boy in the Democratic convention, and that the Democratic convention will not be the thing of pre-arranged harmony it was in 1936.

It is even possible that McNutt couldn't carry his own state of Indiana against strong opposition. I haven't heard a Hoosier say a nice thing about him in years.

That his last name is the same as that of a comic character of some time back — a Rube Goldberg creation as I remember — might make some difference, and again it might not. It depends on how well people remember their comic strip characters.

It would be great stuff if you could look head just a few years.

A Verse for Today
By Anne Campbell

ONLY A BABY
(For Gary Dewey Elliott)

Only a baby, and a life made over!
Even the house is different!
Here is his crib, with the quaint blue cover,
And the bathinet that his grandma sent!
His clothes are folded in his own drawer,
Here's a Mickey Mouse on the bathroom floor!

Only a baby, and the house arouses
At an early hour for his feeding time!
Not like those dignified, grown-up houses
That wake too soon to a clock's loud chime!
We have a baby to waken us
To a world grown suddenly glorious!

Personal Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

NO MORE GUINEA PIGS
Recently we issued a call for five thousand human guinea pigs, on whom we wished to try an experiment. Never mind now just what the experiment was — we'd rather hear no more about it.

Considerably more than five thousand readers responded but in spite of their professed willingness to serve as guinea pigs for the purposes of the experiment they generally betrayed their human nature after all. That is, they insisted on presenting their medical histories or on having a search made thru the archives to find something they believed was printed here last October or even a written guarantee from me that the experiment would involve no risk to the heart, nerves or something.

These eight thousand or more have brought me more grief than ten times their number of honest-to-goodness correspondents have ever given me.

Never again. Pigs is pigs and folks is folks.

They do these things better abroad. For instance, in 1926, Dr. H. C. Cory Mann, experimented with six groups of school boys in an English institution for poor boys. One group received the regular diet of the institution; another received additional sugar equivalent in caloric value to a pint of milk (that is, a little less than three ounces of sugar daily); still another group received New Zealand butter from grass fed cows to give the same number of calories as a pint of milk (that is, about 1 1/2 ounces of butter daily); and so on, with one group of boys receiving, in addition to the regular institution diet, a pint of milk daily.

The group of boys on the regular diet of the institution without any supplementary feeding gained during the four-year period of observation an average per year of 3.85 pounds and 1.84 inches. The group receiving extra protein in the form of casein showed no difference in growth. The group receiving extra sugar grew no faster but showed a slightly greater gain in weight. The group receiving the extra butter showed a slightly increased rate of growth in height and in weight. But the group of boys receiving a pint of milk daily showed an average gain of 6.88 pounds and 2.63 inches a year.

The results of the experiment would have been the same, no doubt, no matter what foods or combinations of foods the different groups received, for it is thoroughly and unquestionably established now that milk is the most nearly perfect, or the most suitable and most digestible food in the dietary of mankind. Milk belongs at the very top of the list of health foods.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Varicose Ulcer
Have you any advice for one suffering with varicose ulcer? I have had it for four years, and it seems impossible to heal it entirely? (Mrs. M. L. G.)

Answer—Send a stamped envelope bearing your address, and ask for monograph on Varicose Veins and Varicose Ulcer.

Seven Year Itch
Is the "seven year itch" just a joke or does some skin trouble actually last that long? I have had something of the sort for several months and it is driving me half crazy? (W. T.)

Answer—Scabies, the old-fashioned itch, may last seven hours, weeks, months or years or longer, according to the treatment.

My Name Is NOT Brady
Your name has been given me in regard to a cure for hay fever. If you think you can do anything for me my address is on the bottom of this post card? (S. F. C.)

Answer—My name is Brady and I'd better not take the chance. I am glad to send to any correspondent who asks for it AND encloses a three-cent stamped envelope bearing his address, instructions for the use of calcium lactate and vitamin D to restore natural immunity against hay fever and allied allergic troubles.

Your Birthday

"PISCES"
If February 24 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9:30 to 11:30 a. m.; from 1:30 to 3:30 p. m., and from 7:30 to 9:30 p. m. The danger periods are from 7:30 to 9:30 a. m.; from 5:30 to 7:30 p. m., and from 9:30 to 11:30 p. m.

Ethical business methods must be used this day to be successful in any commercial undertaking. The influence of moral principles are likely to be experienced by many people in the social whirl. Infringements of any of the rules of conduct will be a grave mistake. Any discrepancy in figures, statements or records involving financial settlements or adjustments very probably will be uncovered this day.

It might be a mistake to condone any form of carelessness, for many unfavorable reactions are apt to originate from this cause, and through your disregarding it you may be regarded as too easy-going. Many peculiar temperamental outbursts, on the part of relatives or friends, may occur this day, so be careful that you are in no way to blame for them. Married and engaged couples, as well as those who are in love, probably will discover that any lack of expressed appreciation for kindnesses done this day, is due to result in bitter resentment. "Give thanks, where thanks are due."

If a woman and February 24 is your birthday, you should have an aptitude for work requiring the dexterous use of the hands. You perhaps are excitable and rather hasty when it comes to making decisions. You ought to be very practical and have few illusions. Your financial troubles are likely to give way to conditions that will make you a prosperous woman. Your life likely will be very interesting, with many pleasant adventures to make it decidedly colorful. As an actress, professional dancer, musician, artist, author or business executive you may win many admirers. Your matrimonial prospects appear to be very promising, with an unusual amount of freedom from troubles or tribulations.

The child born on February 24 is apt to love strenuous outdoor sports. It should be interested in music and the theater. An exceptional amount of versatility, in all likelihood, is one of this youngster's outstanding characteristics. It apparently will have a successful career.

If a man and February 24 is your natal day, you have probably a favorable disposition, and will make many worthwhile friends. As a professional athlete, actor, writer,

A Bystander In Washington

BY PRESTON GROVER

Washington — This excitement over so-called administration "meddling" in local elections is mighty late getting started—and there seems to be an argument whether any meddling is going on.

Some of the lads are chattering as if it were a sudden development as if it were a sudden development to have various administration officials speak out for members of congress who gave support in the pincush. As a matter of fact it began not later than last October.

Barely had Postmaster General Farley announced last fall that there would be no "reprisals" against court bill opponents than Senator Guffey of Pennsylvania cut loose with a speech in which he named Senators Wheeler of Montana, Burke of Nebraska and O'Mahoney of Wyoming as senators who might be tagged out. All were court bill opponents. Administration spokesmen sort of disavowed that Guffey speech, however, saying the Pennsylvania got excited.

In October Mr. Farley found himself in a local situation. The National Association of Postmasters was meeting in San Francisco. Farley went there. But on the way he zig-zagged from one side of California to the other, seeking "good will" speeches. At each stop he talked about "good William Gibbs McAdoo," whose senate term ends this year.

Newspaper and other reports from California indicate McAdoo may have a fight on his hands for a second term.

Most recent so-called participation by the administration in a local political situation was in the case of Representative Disney of Oklahoma, who has been suggested as a possible opponent of Democratic Senator Thomas of Oklahoma next fall. Disney came from a conference with the president to state that he had been urged to run again for the House on the grounds that he was especially valuable as a member of the Ways and Means Committee, which writes tax bills.

Foremost "participation" was in behalf of Senator Barkley of Kentucky, the majority leader. Kentucky rarely keeps its senators in office long, and Barkley may be opposed for a third term by young and ambitious Gov. A. B. (Happy) Chandler, who has a powerful state organization. President Roosevelt sent his secretary, Marvin McIntyre, to a Barkley dinner in Louisville with a letter commending the Kentuckian's service.

Free-handed Jimmy Roosevelt, vacationing in Miami, ad-libbed a suggestion to a Florida audience that it would be all right to send Senator Pepper back to the senate. It was a gesture that displeased Representative Wilcox, who is seeking Pepper's seat.

There are grounds for argument that the administration is not really taking part in any local campaign for in exact truth the primary seasons have not yet opened. It must be recalled that Mr. Farley's principal statement on the subject was that the nation committee would not take part in primary campaigns.

Women of Parish to Sponsor Card Party

Sherwood—The women of Sacred Heart church will sponsor a card party next Sunday afternoon at Dietrich's hall. The usual games will be played, prizes will be awarded and a lunch will be served. Playing will commence at 1:30. Mrs. Henry Herbeck is chairman of the committee in charge.

Mrs. Mary Maurer was hostess to the following at schafkop on Sunday evening at her home: Mr. and Mrs. John Dietzen, Darby; Mr. and Mrs. Al Thiel, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Schultz, Mr. and Mrs. John Hartzheim, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Maurer. Prizes went to Mr. John Dietzen and Mr. Edwin Schultz. Mr. Al Thiel received the traveling prize.

Al Koepf, local barber, is temporarily assisting at the Joseph Marx barber shop at Hilbert. Mr. Marx is confining his home with inflammatory rheumatism and will be unable to operate his shop for several weeks.

Dinner guests on Sunday at the Arthur Buelow residence were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Staeger and family, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Laux and son, Appleton; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Plate and family, Hilbert; Lester Deno and Elmer Harder of Sherwood.

The annual meeting of Sacred Heart church was held on Sunday morning following the last mass. Trustees were reelected.

Chilton Woman Feted

On Her 83rd Birthday
Chilton—Mrs. Eliza Stuebel celebrated her eighty-third birthday at her home Sunday with a family party. Mrs. Stuebel is in excellent health. She has been a resident of Chilton for about 62 years. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. George Stuebel, Mr. and Mrs. William Powell and son, Chicago; Dr. and Mrs. George Forkin, Menasha; Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Stuebel, Mrs. Mollie Krandall, Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Pfeffer and Mrs. C. O. Piper, Chilton.

The Woman's club met in regular session in the city hall on Monday afternoon. The speaker was G. M. Morrissey, who gave a talk on his travels in the east last summer. He treated the topic from a historical standpoint. A group of songs were sung by six high school girls, June Dhein, Violet Strinsky, Shirley Nestor and Doris Aebischer. They were accompanied on the piano by Miss Loretta Guelin, teacher of music in the public schools. Refreshments were served by the hostesses of the day, Mrs. C. O. Piper and Mrs. William Stauss.

Recall Three Jap Commanders From China War Fronts

Matsui Replaced Because Of Foes' Gains, Friction With Other Nations

Shanghai—(U)—Recall of three of the highest Japanese commanders was announced today in the midst of reports that Japanese had suffered a sharp setback on the front north of Nanking.

Japanese army headquarters announced officially that General Shunroku Hata, inspector of military education in Japan, was stepping into the shoes of General Iwane Matsui as commander-in-chief of Japanese forces in the Shanghai-Nanking area.

Matsui's recall because of the success of Chinese counter-attacks, breaches of discipline in the Japanese army, and friction with other nations, became known unofficially last week.

The other two high officers ordered back to Tokyo were Lieutenant General Prince Yasuhiko Asaka, commander of Japanese expeditionary forces, and Lieutenant General Heisuke Yanagawa, commander of the Manchow bay landing force.

Chinese Block Drives General Hata faced the task of reorganizing Japanese central China forces to provide fresh impetus for drives against the vital Lungsha corridor. Chinese have blocked the drives in some sectors and in others they were floundering.

Foreign military observers drew this picture of the military situation which has developed since the fall of Nanking in December: The Japanese advance northward from Nanking toward Suchow, heart of the Lungsha corridor, has bogged down with more than a 150-mile gap between the Pengpu column and Japanese in southern Shantung province.

Bitter Engagements In central Anhwei province Chinese are deadlocked in a series of bitter engagements, with Japanese unable to make an appreciable advance north of the Hwai river.

Japanese columns have captured Wuhu, up the Yangtze from Nanking, and Hangchow, important seaport south of Shanghai, but have been unable to advance farther because Chinese guerrilla bands have bothered them continually. Guerrillas have been active in the entire Hangchow-Nanking-Shanghai triangle, holding up supply shipments and forcing Japanese to use the river forces to garrison communication lines.

MACLAREN AT HOSPITAL

Dr. J. B. MacLaren, 739 E. College avenue, who broke a bone in his left shoulder in a fall last Thursday evening, is still confined to St. Elizabeth hospital.

Raymond N. LeVee, Appleton Architect, Who Talked about 'Architecture and Construction of the Grignon Homestead'

Schaefer explained that if it hadn't been for the Ordinance of 1787, perhaps the new states would have been dependent on the original states and would not have had full powers of statehood. The constitution says that "Congress may admit new states into the union" but does not say that Congress must grant them full equality.

"However, in granting statehood to territories," Schaefer said, "Congress only dictated in the matter of boundaries. There are several cases where Congress, in granting statehood, either took away or gave additional land to the young state."

Historian Traces Origin of People In Old Northwest

In his talk on the old Northwest, Schaefer traced the settlement of what is now Wisconsin, Michigan, Illinois, Indiana and Ohio to the adoption of the Ordinance of 1787. The three southern states were settled by people from Virginia, Kentucky and Tennessee while Michigan and Wisconsin were settled mostly by people from the New England states, he said.

"The Yankee element in Wisconsin's early history had much to do with its development both politically and industrially. Then Germans came to southern Wisconsin in great numbers and Scandinavians to the northern part of the state. Polish and Italian people came late to balance the social and political life of the young state," Schaefer said.

Speaking of the Ordinance of 1787, the historian said, "The document was so simply drawn and effective that it became the permanent policy in establishing new territories which were colonized by people from the original 13 states. It provided that Congress appoint a governor, judges and other public officials until the territory was populated by at least 5,000 males of full age."

"Then," he continued, "the document provided that a legislative assembly be created by election and that the territory be given one representative in Congress. The ordinance further stipulated that when the territory was populated by 60,000 white persons, it should be admitted to the union on full equality with the rest of the states. Thirty-five states have been built up since the passage of the ordinance."

TALKS TO PIONEERS

Joseph Schaefer, Madison, superintendent of the state historical society, traced the history of the development of the old northwest at a gathering of the Outagamie County Pioneer and Historical society yesterday at the Masonic temple.

Issue Building Permit For Dwelling in City

A permit to construct a new dwelling at 414 W. Atlantic street was issued to Ralph Forstner, 801 Clark street, today by the city building inspector. The home, which will be of frame construction, 26 by 32 with garage attached, is estimated to cost $4,500.

finest examples of early American architecture in existence today and the home certainly deserves to be preserved for posterity." He described its type as Georgian-Colonial.

William F. Wolf, Appleton, talked on "The Historical Treasures of the Grignon Homestead" and displayed letters and other articles of great age.

Restoration of the Grignon home at Kaukauna to its original grandeur is a project which has been shouldered by the Outagamie historical group. The famous mansion, completed in 1838 by Charles A. Grignon, is badly in need of repair.

The historical society has pointed out that if the home is allowed to fall into ruin, this vicinity will lose one of its most widely known tourist attractions.

Recreation Grignon Home The society hopes not only to improve the building but to restore the landscape to its original state. A painting which hangs at the Kaukauna library suggests the scene before the river was harnessed and the locks constructed almost in the front yard.

A membership meeting was held yesterday morning and a dinner was held at noon at the Masonic temple. Reports of officers and committees were heard at the morning session.

The group sang "America" to open the afternoon program. Mrs. Evangeline Farwell played the piano. The Rev. Harry C. Culver, pastor of the First Methodist church, spoke and Miss Lucille Austin, Kaukauna, sang several numbers accompanied by Mrs. Arthur Mongin, Kaukauna. Richard Hoolhan sang "Hills of Home."

Should Assent to Child's Wishes Often as Possible

BY ANGELO PATRI
"Wait for me after dismissal at noon. I have something to tell you," whispered Caroline to Margaret Anne on the way to assembly. Margaret nodded assent. Her face lighted at the thought of what this something might be, for Caroline was an active and imaginative child, always thinking of something interesting to be done, always willing to share the fun with the group who were her friends and followers, among whom Margaret Anne was first and foremost.

As the children poured out of the school doors at twelve o'clock Margaret Anne waited close to one of them for a sight of Caroline's blue turtleneck sweater. She was usually the last one out because she had so much to say that had to be said before leaving. At last she came and the two, with arms entwined walked toward home.

"I've a great idea. Lots of fun. You know that the gypsies are in the village? On the lot by the station? Well, there's a woman there who tells your fortune. Everything that has happened to you, and all that is going to happen to you, you'll marry, and everything. I'm going to hear it. It only costs ten cents."

"My plan is to go there right after school. We have to make an early start or it will be dark coming home. The whole bunch is going. Just bring your ten cents and come along. It'll be the greatest fun we've had this term."

"I'll ask my mother."

"No, don't you do that. She'll say No. Tell after you've been. That's what we are all going to do. The mothers will make such a fuss and they won't let us go, and that will spoil it all. Don't say a word."

"Then I can't go. I'd have to ask my mother. She will say Yes I'm sure. She always does if it is something I want to do and it isn't dangerous like climbing the quarry."

"I asked you to come too because you are my best friend. Now if you spoil the whole thing—"

"Mother won't tell, even if she says I can't go. Not unless it is dangerous, and if it is so bad that my mother has to tell the other mothers I'm scared of going anyhow. But I'll keep still and stay home."

"No. If you're sure she won't tell, go ahead. It won't be any fun for

Should Have Opened With Three Spades

BY ELY CULBERTSON
"Dear Mr. Culbertson: The hand I am submitting was dealt to me (South), and my wife, who is a much sounder and more conservative bidder than I, was in the North position. (Editor's note: What is this, treason? A few more admissions like this will give wives something to set their teeth into, with a consequence that is not hard to imagine.) I should appreciate your comment as to the correct bidding of such a layout, because I am by no means satisfied that my own bidding was logical.

"The diamond king was opened. I ruffed, led a spade to the king, cashed the club ace, reentered my hand by ruffing a diamond, ruffed my last heart, ruffed another diamond, and then, after drawing the spade queen, claimed the balance."

"Despite the success of the grand slam, however, I am not yet satisfied with my initial bid, although so unusual a hand necessitated either a force or a preemptive bid, to my mind, and my thought was that by a forcing bid I could explore the possibilities of a slam to the best advantage. After my wife's response and my own mental discounting of West's double, the only question was whether I was justified in going after the grand slam directly or whether I should have bid six and left it to my partner to raise or pass. Knowing her conservatism I had small hope that she would do so, which is another reason that influenced my jumping the whole way."

"Yours truly,
"H. M. M. Medford, Mass."

I trust my readers will not overlook the disparity between the opening and closing of my correspondent's letter. He started out by saying that his wife was a "much sounder and more conservative bidder" than himself. In closing, he merely let it go at "conservative." This, of course, is partly explained by his obvious struggle to justify his own bidding to himself, even though he is modest enough to ask for comments. Well, here they are:

South was fantastically lucky to find North with precisely the right cards. Admittedly, South's hand was a difficult one to bid, and it is quite possible that more logical bidding might not have reached the grand slam contract. South should have opened with three spades, and the development of the bidding then would depend to a large degree on West's action. If West doubles, North's shield redoubles. If the defenders run to four diamonds, South should cue-bid in diamonds, showing first round control of that suit. And, after North gets that message, he can take a great deal of action. The great danger of opening a hand such as South's with a two bid is that partner may carry the bidding to an unmakeable level, with honor tricks that cannot be used.

me if you don't go. Maybe—well, you ask."

Mother listened, asked a few questions and then said, "Yes, you can go. It is quite a long walk there and back so I'll drive over with the station wagon and meet you on the grounds and drive the crowd home. How's that?"

"Fine," said Margaret Anne. "I knew I could count on you, Caroline. I will be surprised."

It is wise to say Yes as often as possible so as to make the asking easy and the confidence in the answer sure. Mother found a way to any Yes to a request that was dubious. Sometimes there is nothing to be done except to say No. But if that No comes only on the right occasions the child soon recognizes its wisdom and abides by it.

A Visit in Penang
Island of Penang: Our boat reached this island early in the morning, and I soon began to explore its only important city. The old official name of the city is George Town, but almost everyone here calls it Penang, the same as the island.

Some homes in Penang — perhaps one-fifth of them — are on stilts, or high posts. Three reasons may be given for this: tigers, snakes and floods. The high first floor may help guard against such dangers, but one of them, at least, is gone now. Tigers no longer prowled about the city, and I am told they are not found anywhere else on the island nowadays.

After motoring nine miles from the center of the city, I reached a temple of a strange kind. In it are dozens of snakes. They are looked upon as holy animals, and joss sticks are burned in front of them.

Two big pythons (one 15 feet long) were under a glass cover, but the rest of the serpents were in the open, wound about wood-work or metal stands. My guide put his fingers near the mouths of two or three snakes, but suffered no harm.

"People come to pray to the snakes," said the guide. He added that the Snake temple had been built more than 50 years ago. (For Travel section of your scrapbook.)

Riddles, games and puzzles will be found in the "Funmaker" leaflet. If you would like a copy send a 3c stamped, return envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

Women Benefit More Than Men By Getting Married

BY DOROTHY DIX
A correspondent asks: Which get the greater benefits out of marriage—men or women? And in case neither marries which is lonelier—old bachelors or old maids?

I think that marriage is one of the few things in life in which women get the best end of the bargain. Perhaps that is the reason why girls are so much more eager to rush into matrimony than boys are. This is not because men make better husbands than women make wives, or because wives, as a rule, are happier than are husbands, but because women have more to gain from marriage than have men.

In an ideal marriage, in which a husband and wife truly love each other, are congenial and find their happiness in each other's society, they break even. Marriage brings to both of them the most precious thing in the world and you cannot weigh the advantages of one against the other. But, leaving out of the discussion this purely sentimental aspect of the matter and coming down to brass tacks and tangible assets, it is indisputable that women hold the winning hand in marriage.

The average man, for instance, gains no social prestige by marrying. No one suggests that the reason a man has not married is because he lacks charm, or personality, or IT, or whatever it takes to attract the opposite sex. But the general supposition is that when a woman doesn't marry it is because she couldn't; that no man wanted her. No one looks down on the old bachelor, but the general public is a little condescending to the old maid. Hence it is a distinct advantage to a woman to be raised to the honorable estate of being a Mrs.—almost like being knighted.

Instead, so far as popularity in society goes, marriage is a handicap to a man, whereas it is a promotion to a woman. A single man is the answer to the hostess's prayer for some one to balance a dinner table, fill in at bridge or pep up week-ends for girl guests. He loses this advantage when he becomes merely a Mr. and Mrs. team. Nothing makes women lose interest in a man so quickly as for him to get married, and many a petted darling of dowagers finds himself unaccountably dropped when he takes unto himself a wife.

On the other hand, it promotes a woman's social availability for her to be married, for it not only makes her a member in good and regular standing of the League of Matrons, but it also provides her with a standing date and saves hostesses from the bother of trying to shanghai some unwilling bachelor into being her escort. Also, for some unknown reason, it builds her stock so that the woman who would be a homely old maid if she were single becomes a handsome young married woman. And, likewise, the knowledge that a woman has a husband and can't inveigle them into marrying her makes men feel it safe to show her attentions that they would not dare to do if she were single.

Regarded from the business angle, women shake the plum tree. The great majority of men, after they are married, spend their lives toiling to support their families and get nothing out of all they earn but a few tubular garments, a hook in the closet and the tail-end of the steak. But marriage is the best profession into which a woman can go.

High Curls Are Fashion For Spring

BY ELSIE PIERCE
Didn't this column tell you long ago that high curls are a high fashion? The Page Boy has definitely sung its swan song, and the long-line coiffure has heard its death knell.

And now, for spring, high curls command the picture so completely that Paris is claiming credit for the fashion and American Hair Designers point to the fact that they started pointing coiffures upward months ago. So long as they agree on the grandeur of the style we have no quarrel with hairdressers on either side of the ocean.

Anyway, the whole point of this lesson is: if you've an eye on a new spring hat, you'll put your hair. Because sailors and Watteau bonnets and little pill boxes perched up on top of the head seem to be entirely at peace with the brushed up high curls, whereas the long back drop does a tug-of-war with the new chapeaux.

Personally, hat or no hat, we love the lovely lady look that the high hair-do's give every woman who wears them.

The Unkeep
You're warned that you'll feel just a bit naked about the nape at first, but you'll soon get used to it. You are also warned that the high curls need just as much upkeep as did the ends of your long bob. All that is made very easy, however, if you practice shooting bobby pins into the curls at night. Try playing with an automatic bob pin curler, or better yet invest in the new beauty kit that holds two curlers, special lotion and a professional hairdresser's comb. If you don't go into competition with your favorite hairdresser at least you will be prolonging the life of his handiwork. Then brush up your curls, hold your head high — and what compliments you'll have heaped on your kit!

Hair to be lovely must have a sheen. Send self-addressed stamped (3-cent) envelope for my bulletins on Shampoos and Beautifying Rinses.

Three Schools Will Enter Debate Finals

Madison—(P)—Miss Almira Scott, secretary of the Wisconsin High School Forensic association, announced Tuesday high school teams representing Chippewa Falls, Shawano and Wausau will compete in the finals of the state debating tournament March 1 in the capitol.

The question for debate will be advisability of the one-house legislative system for American states.

Chippewa Falls represents the northern section, Shawano the central, and Wausau the southern area. The selections were made following district elimination contests which ended Saturday. Chippewa Falls won the state title in 1929, and was runner-up in 1931. The championships are held with the cooperation of the university extension department of debating and public discussion.

Slightly Better Buying of Steel Now in Evidence

Announced Prices on Products Removes One
Cause of Uncertainty

Announcement by the leading interest, followed by other producers, that their prices on hot-rolled products for second quarter would be unchanged from the current level and that on cold-finished sheets the recent reduction would apply has removed one cause of uncertainty from the situation, says Steel.

The present schedule of prices on hot-rolled steel has been in effect since March 5, 1937, being reaffirmed for each succeeding quarter. In that period buyers have expected an increase at some times and a decrease at others. In recent weeks it has been apparent that some consumers have held back buying as far as possible until the announcement had been made. Such tonnage as had been deferred on this account should begin to appear in the market soon. Some observers believe this will be of substantial proportions.

Better Buying
Adjustments in extras for pickling of hot-rolled sheets have also been announced, following the recent decrease in the price of cold-rolled sheets as a step toward restoring the former relations of these competitive materials, largely used in automotive building.

Slightly better buying of steel in nearly all lines is evident, consumers apparently finding demand for their products in a larger degree. This is not marked, but in the experience of some large producers it is believed sufficient to give a larger total production in February than in January, despite the shorter month.

Railroad buying, delayed by uncertainty as to the rate decision, apparently can not be held back entirely and occasional orders for equipment are coming out. It is known that important tonnages of rails have been scheduled and it is believed these will be placed as soon as the rate situation is cleared.

Fairly Stabilized
Steel production has become fairly stabilized at a rate dictated by current requirements of consumers at a level close to 30 per cent. Figures from this level for the past six weeks have been only a point or two, indicating buying is steady at the low level. Last week the national rate advanced 1 point to 31 per cent as slight changes in schedule were made at various points. Pittsburgh moved down 2 points to 29 per cent and Chicago moved up 1 point to 32 per cent. This is equal to the lowest rate at Chicago since the first of the year. Youngstown moved up 6 points to 29 per cent. Buffalo advanced 2.5 per cent to 21 per cent. Detroit 1 point to 48 per cent and St. Louis 7 points to 28 per cent. Operations were unchanged at Eastern Pennsylvania at 30 per cent. Westinghouse at 44 per cent, Cleveland at 33, Birmingham at 28, New England at 27 and Cincinnati at 28 per cent.

Automobile assemblies last week were 59,100, or 1290 more than in the preceding week. General motors produced 21,560, compared with 20,650; Chrysler gained 800 to 9550; Ford made 19,268, compared with 20,760 the week before and the independents assembled 8425, against 7050 in the preceding period.

Decided weakness in scrap at Chicago and Philadelphia lowered quotations sharply and resulted in the composite of steelmaking scrap receding 42 cents to $13.33, the level of December 15. This is the sharpest drop since the early part of November. Effect of the scrap recession carried the iron and steel composite down six cents to $38.88. The finished steel composite is unchanged at $61.70.

Steel's London cable brings information that demand for pig iron in Great Britain has relaxed and some tonnage is available for export. Demand for steel continues strong with no delivery short of third quarter on current bookings. January imports of iron and steel products gained over December and exports were considerably lower. Continental exporters find demand much smaller and are curtailing production. Conversations looking to closer relations of American exporters of steel products with the European steel entente continue as the effort is made to bring about a wider range of products on which control can be exercised.

Timber Cut From What Is Now Lincoln School Ground Provided Lumber for First Appleton Baptist Church

Editor's note: This is the second of a series of stories covering the history of Appleton churches from their organization to the present.

BY VIOLA HELLERMANN
What is now the Lincoln school grounds was a grove of trees when the Baptists built their first church in Appleton in 1855, and the lumber they used was cut from that grove and hauled across the street with an ox team loaned to the church by Henry Priest, father of the late A. W. Priest.

One of the city's oldest congregations, the Baptists were organized in 1852 in what was then the Third ward school, and meetings were held at the courthouse until the church was erected three years later. Elder Andem of the Baptist church at Neenah led in the organization, and the first officers were D. H. Bowen, moderator, and B. B. Murch, clerk.

During the first year the church, then called the First Regular Baptist Church and Society in the City of Appleton, had 16 members. Today it has approximately 286.

Some of the active members of the first church were N. H. Murch, B. B. Murch, Mrs. S. B. Murch, John and Clarissa Bonner, Sarah Fish, George and Mary Henson, William Hood, great uncle of Mrs. Mary Payzant, Oliver Hanchett, William Remington, Mrs. William Remington, D. H. Bowen, Henry and Hannah Priest, Richard and Cordelia Rogers, parents of Mrs. Miles Meidam, Sr., and Mrs. Gertrude Heibel.

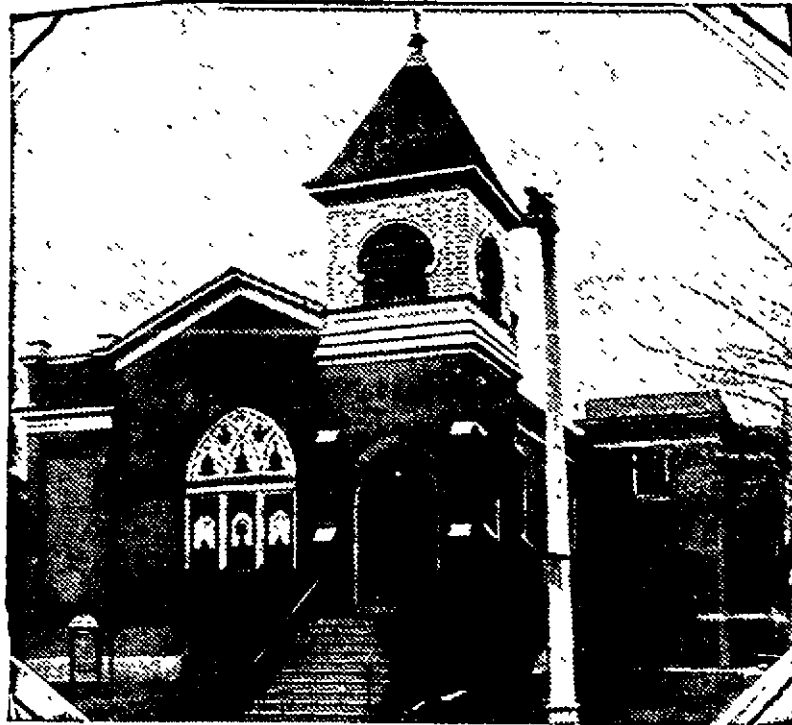

Organize Branch
The first church building, erected in 1855, stood on the same site as the present one, at the corner of N. Appleton and W. Franklin streets. It was built under the leadership of the Rev. A. Hamilton, who came from New Haven, Conn., to be the first pastor. He served from 1855 to 1861, when the Rev. D. H. Cooley succeeded him. It was during the Rev. Mr. Cooley's pastorate that a branch church was organized in Ellington.

From 1867 to 1869 the Rev. Ames Robinson was the pastor, and from 1869 to 1872 the Rev. Otis Saxton occupied the pulpit. During the latter's pastorate the Ellington church was released as an independent church, and a parsonage was built. The Rev. Mr. Saxton was succeeded by the Rev. O. W. Babcock, who was here from 1873 to 1874, and the Rev. R. M. S. Pease, who served from 1875 to 1877. During the pastorate of the Rev. T. C. Coffey, who was here from 1877 to 1879, the Stephenville branch church became an independent church.

BAPTISTS BUILT FIRST CHURCH IN 1855

One of Appleton's oldest congregations is the First Baptist, whose first church building, erected in 1855, is shown at the lower right. The present church, upper right, stands on the same site, the corner of N. Appleton and W. Franklin streets. The Rev. A. Hamilton, who came from New Haven, Conn., in 1855 to be the congregation's first minister, has been succeeded by 25 pastors, the present one being the Rev. R. H. Spangler, shown at the upper left.

Succeeding pastors were the Rev. L. M. Mack, who served here in 1879 and 1880; the Rev. H. G. Carroll, March to October, 1881; the Rev. H. H. Beach, 1881-84; the Rev. H. C. Leland, 1884-87; the Rev. A. A. Brown, 1887-91; the Rev. E. A. Riehl, 1892-94; the Rev. J. J. Irving, 1894-98; and the Rev. A. E. Irving, 1898 to 1900.

"Son Takes Father's Place"
The last two were father and son, the younger taking charge of the church when his father was sent west for his health. The elder Irving never recovered sufficiently to return to preaching, so his son was ordained and became pastor of the local church.

Under leadership of the Rev. Henry Robinson, who was pastor from 1900 to 1902, the congregation was incorporated and the church rebuilt.

On Dec. 31, 1902, at the beginning of the pastorate of the Rev. A. Le Grand, the church celebrated its fiftieth anniversary. The Rev. Mr. Le Grand was succeeded in 1906 by the Rev. Wilbur Clapp, who was here until 1908, and the Rev. H. J. Palmer, who served from February to April, 1908.

New Parsonage
During the time the Rev. E. R. McKinney occupied the pulpit, from 1908 to 1912, the new parsonage was completed. The Rev. William P. Pearce, D. D., was here from 1913 to 1916; the Rev. T. W. Gales, from 1916 to 1919; and the Rev. A. L. McMullan from 1920 to 1923.

Illinois Favors 5-State Meeting on Truck Laws

Springfield, Ill.—(P)—A proposal of Wisconsin authorities that representatives of five midwestern states meet next month to discuss uniform truck laws was received favorably by Illinois officials Tuesday, although the opinion was expressed the problem could be met more effectively through the creation of legislative traffic commissions in the states.

Senator Louis J. Menges of East St. Louis, chairman of the Illinois uniform motor vehicle law commission, said that although the body would be pleased to meet with representatives of any state on the subject, the recommendations of a special legislative traffic commission were more likely to bring results than would the recommendations of other bodies.

The five state meeting was proposed by Theodore Dammann, Wisconsin secretary of state and chairman of the state's commission on interstate cooperation, who suggested the problem be studied through the council of state governments.

Favors Expansion Of Navy and Army

Colonel Bordman Tells Rotarians Nation Must Protect Itself

National defense and the president's proposed armament program were discussed by Colonel R. P. Bordman, Oshkosh banker, at a meeting of the Appleton Rotary club yesterday at the Northern hotel.

"We are all set for armament expansion and I'm for it if it is done scientifically," said Colonel Bordman. "We should be strong in the protection of that which is ours."

The Oshkosh man maintained that there is no conflict between the program for added armament and the aims of democracy. England and France lost an opportunity to build democracies in Europe after the World war, he said, while dictators, since then, have developed their military for sudden striking power. They have no men nor money to fight a long war. We must be prepared to repulse sudden attack, Colonel Bordman maintained.

He discussed the international situation and quoted figures on the relative strength of the armies and navies of democracies and countries with various forms of dictatorships. He said that our army and navy were not up to the par quoted in the National Defense act. He also talked briefly of R. O. T. C. units in colleges and universities.

Begin Preparations For Annual Smelt Run

Menominee, Mich.—(P)—The annual smelt run is at least a month away but already 78 hardy fishermen have set up net lifting rigs on the interstate bridge over the Menominee river, striding their claims at once.

Police Chief Frank Parask said two ambitious fishermen asked permission to set up a small gasoline engine on the bridge so they could hoist their nets of the silver fish faster. He advised them such a project was not permissible.

State Orators Will Enter National Meet

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison—Picked orators from the state universities, Marquette and state colleges will participate for cash prizes and other awards in the National Delta Sigma Rho forensics tournament which will be held on the Wisconsin campus March 25 and 26.

Prof. H. L. Ewbank of the state university's speech department, national president of the fraternity, is currently busy with plans for the annual contest.

Sacramento, Calif.—(P)—Lily, pet cat of Miss Annie Hansche, has been left $5,000 in her mistress' will, but it looks like the fadest for all Lily's poor relations.

For years some dozen alley cats hung around the Manche home and were fed regularly. Ignored in the will, these cats now face starvation and humane Officer H. J. Winters is considering rounding up and chloroforming them.

NOPE, NO ENERGY?

I felt stronger, and better in every way. Buy it in liquid or tablet form from your druggist today. See how much more vigorous you feel after using this tonic. New size, tablet 25c."

Ammon Seeks Cooperation With Farm Groups in State

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison—Ralph E. Ammon, new head of the state department of agriculture and markets, assured Wisconsin farmers today that while the department under his direction will emphasize service to Wisconsin agriculture, its regulatory functions will not be neglected.

"While we realize that it is our duty to act as regulatory body in the enforcement of numerous laws, our intention also is to become a service rendering department for the farmers of Wisconsin," Ammon said in his first formal statement of policy since assuming the position of director in the reorganized department.

He explained that the department desires to cooperate with the college of agriculture, the county agricultural agents, and all organizations working for the best interests of the state's farmers.

The new department chief said that he plans no changes in personnel, but rather a coordination of activities so that the department's numerous divisions will function as a unit.

Part-time Board
Ammon, as chief administrative officer, will take his orders from a six member part-time board consisting of farmers and headed by Harry Jack of Hortonville, dairy cooperative leader.

That cooperative activities will be one of Chairman Jack's principal concerns, and consequently the western of the revamped agricultural department was hunted a few days ago when Jack publicly announced that a cooperative control of the farmer's dairy products through a single statewide marketing unit is essential if an effective farm program is to be realized in Wisconsin.

"If the dozen or so of federated cooperative marketing agencies in Wisconsin would cooperatively pool their products tomorrow, they would probably control 25 per cent of the state's annual milk production," according to Jack. "Such a procedure would quickly induce other farmers to join the effort."

While centralization in the assembly of milk and its process or manufacture offers opportunities for lowering costs, Jack feels that such steps will not bring the still more important benefits possible through centralization of marketing activities.

Jack revealed that he plans to encourage cooperative members in Wisconsin to work toward that end.

Would Reinstate Lime Crushing as WPA Work

Washington—(P)—Senator LaFollette (P-Wis) planned today to introduce an amendment to the emergency relief appropriation bill to permit designation of Wisconsin lime crushing projects for use of relief funds.

Such projects started in the state to add fertility to the soil of farms were ruled out by the director of the budget and the comptroller general as not being public projects. They held that because the lime was used on private land relief funds could not be used.

Adjutant General Ralph M. Imnell, former WPA administrator for Wisconsin, appealed to the senator to have the lime crushing project reinstated. He said in three and a half years nearly 3,000,000 tons of lime were produced but there were still six or seven million acres of acid soil in the state.

Tilting of State May Lift Locks Out of Water

Detroit—(P)—It's nothing to worry about now, of course, but Sherman Moore, senior engineer for the United States lake survey, says northern Michigan is tilting upward at such a rate that the Sault Ste. Marie locks, should the tilt continue, will be high and dry in 2,400 years.

Moore disclosed that gauge calculations showed the northern part of the state was tilting at a rate of 38 of a foot every 100 years. Thus, he said, eventually would force the locks, with their present 20-foot draft, out of water.

The rise has been checked by actual instrumental levels from 1875 to 1934, he asserted.

Many Middle-Class Americans Will Be Living in 'Magic Houses' in 1963

This is the third of five articles in which Alexander R. George, after talking with the researchers who are charting tomorrow's world, pictures life in 1963 as it shapes up in the laboratories and on the drafting boards of 1938.

BY ALEXANDER R. GEORGE
New York — (P)—Many middle-class Americans will be living in "magic houses" 25 years from now. But don't expect them, or their neighbors, to be ga-ga about it. For they'll be used to it as much as a matter of course the transition from the cupola cutie and the bay-windowed behemoth of the Victorian era to the immeasurably more comely and livable house of 1963.

And you can count on U. S. home owners, already casually familiar with the flip-of-the-finger conveniences, to take in their stride the houses of 1963 with such miracles as:

Telephones that will take down the messages whether or not anyone answers the phone or not.

Newspapers in the home.

A bedroom light that will go on automatically in the night when one gets out of bed—an important safety gadget since 39 per cent of all home fires occur in bedrooms.

An electric eye that will light the entrance to a house as one approaches it.

Cherished lighting, providing maximum "daylight" illumination night and day, and simultaneously flooding every room with health-giving rays.

Television offering home movies, baseball and football games and photo finishes of horse races. Perhaps a tabloid paper by radio or wire facsimile.

Chemically treated air-conditioning which will kill germs in noisier, deodorized, vermin-proof, dust-free rooms.

Third Clare Major Drama Has Historical Background

WHENEVER the problem of children's plays is brought up, the question arises, "Where can material suitable for children's plays be found?" For the play, "Captives of Old Carlisle," which the Clare Tree Major players will present at 3 o'clock next Tuesday afternoon at Lawrence Memorial chapel, one source of excellent material has been tapped, namely history. This will be the third of four plays to be given this season.

The story of Regina Hartman, the little girl who was stolen by Indians and kept in their camp until she was a grown woman, and the account of her rescue and reunion with her family, is a familiar tale throughout Pennsylvania. It was suggested that a play be made about it, and as soon as the title was announced, valuable historical material began to be received from teachers of history, from historical societies, from Old Schuylkill and Cumberland Valley families. Intensive research into the habits of the particular tribes of Indians concerned was begun, and books, museums, and libraries were ransacked for material shedding light on the customs of the times.

Costumes, cooking utensils, furniture, everything having to do with the daily lives of both Indians and settlers were studied in order to bring accurate data to this historical presentation.

Since the play must cover the destruction of the Hartman cabin by the marauding savages, great care was needed in order to arrange the material so that children would understand what was taking place but would not be frightened. The suggestion of outrage must be there, but anything like the fact itself in dramatization would be too real for the active imaginations of children and the power they have of identifying themselves with the children of the play.

Because of the subject matter and excellent presentation of the material in the play, "Captives of Old Carlisle" is of as much interest to adults as to children, and for that reason the committee in charge of the local performance is trying to bring out as many adults as children for the play next Tuesday.

29,642 Books Issued At Clintonville in Year, Report Shows

Clintonville — The annual report recently completed by Miss Esther Regli, librarian, states that 29,642 books were borrowed from the Finney Public Library during 1937. Of these, 17,430 were adult books and 12,212 books were loaned to children. The library was open 306 days during the year and an average of 97 books per day were borrowed. The largest single day's circulation was 236 books in November and the smallest was 29 books on the day before Christmas. November was the month with the greatest circulation with 3,539 books borrowed. There was a slight increase in the total number of volumes loaned in 1937 over the previous year.

The registration records show that the local library has 2,823 borrowers, of whom 1,488 are juveniles and 1,335 are adults and include out-of-town patrons from the neighboring villages of Marion, Embarras and Bear Creek. Over 300 patrons were added to the register during the last year.

There are now 5,767 volumes in circulation at the library, of which 682 were added during 1937. A gift of 172 Boy Scout books and pamphlets were given to the library by the Heinie Band program committee and a number of books on mechanics and science were donated by the Four Wheel Drive Auto company.

The library board consists of Fred Ruth, president; Julius Spearbraker, vice president; Mrs. Anna Stanley,

Lawrence Sets Scoring Mark As It Wallops Lake Forest

Cets 21 Goals, 14 Free Throws for 56 To 28 Win

PASSING FEATURES

Leaves Thursday for Visit to Coe and Cornell Colleges

BY GORDON MCINTYRE
LAWRENCE college basketball team set a scoring record last night out at Alexander gymnasium when it poured 21 baskets and 14 free throws through the hoop for a 56 to 28 victory over Lake Forest college.

It was a non-conference game but evened matters for a defeat suffered at the hands of the Foresters this season.

Ability to control the ball practically all the time and some bad passing on the part of Lake Forest gave Lawrence its opportunity to run up the big count. In the second half Lawrence had the ball so often and the Foresters found the Vike defense so tough that they went for 14 minutes without a field goal.

Lawrence's work at the free throw line was a revelation in view of the fact the Vikes have been under the 500 percentage mark for a long time. In the first half Lawrence made six tosses and missed only two. In the second half it did even better with eight good tosses and two blows. And in the case of one of the blows it was pushed back through the hoop for a basket.

Lead 22-11 at Half
As the game opened the teams raced from basket to basket with neither scoring and with bad passes featuring. Lawrence scored the first goal but the Foresters went ahead on two free throws and a goal. Then the Vikes started to click and at the half they led 22 to 11. In the second half, for the first 14 minutes, a couple free throws were the only thing that kept Lake Forest in the ball game.

Midwest Swimmers, Grunters Will Compete Here on March 5

LAWRENCE college swimmers and wrestlers this week are preparing for the annual Midwest conference swimming and wrestling tournament scheduled here for Saturday afternoon, March 5. The swimming meet will be the third annual affair but the wrestlers will be gathering for the first time. Swimming has become something of an important sport in the Midwest since the first tournament was held here. Carleton still is tops in dual competition but if the various squads can split points Lawrence is conceded a chance. Another strong squad is Beloit college. Monmouth will enter a few men and Knox is expected to offer a team for the first time.

NEW LONDON CAGERS POINT FOR DISTRICT TOURNAMENT

New London High school basketball team is idle in Northeastern Wisconsin conference competition this week but is working regularly for the district Class B tournament to be held at Kaukauna the second week in March. New London has won four games and has lost seven in conference play but all that has to be discounted when the Bull Dogs go to a tournament. They have been notorious for pulling a surprise at tournaments and there's no reason to believe this year will be an exception. The boys started slowly this season but have turned in some sensational ball when the game really meant something. The first row shows, left to right, Stewart Hammerberg, Francis Meinhardt, James Meshnick, Douglas Hoier and Bernard Stern; standing, left to right, Gordon Meiklejohn, Kenneth Poppy, Donald Stern and Ben Huzzar. Young Threatens To Catch Up With Big 10 Scoring Ace

Hod Powell, Wisconsin Forward, Stands in Third Place

CHICAGO—(P)—Dehner's lead in the Big Ten basketball conference's individual scoring race was threatened this week as Jewell Young began a belated drive to catch the Illinois center and retain his title won last year with the record breaking total of 172 points.

The Purdue star scored 40 points over the weekend against Wisconsin and Ohio State and ran his total to 125, just eight short of Dehner's mark.

Young's chances of overtaking Dehner who has held first place virtually all season although he missed one game because of ineligibility, were enhanced by the fact he has three more games to play compared with two by the Illini.

Hod Powell of Wisconsin was in third place this week with 117 points, three ahead of Jimmy Hull of Ohio State.

Purdue, which regained its scoring edge in its last two encounters and a tie for the lead with Northwestern as well, also went to the front in team offensive honors with an average of 39 points a game. Michigan held defensive honors with an average of 30 2-9, a fraction better than that of Minnesota.

Chaff 'n Chatter

By Gordon R. McIntyre

THERE'S still snow on the ground and we'll probably have another storm or two before spring finally arrives but the baseball bug is in the air hereabouts.

The County leaguers met at Greenville the other evening and replayed last season's games, talked over prospects for this year and will gather again March 7 and make everything final and regular with election of officers, changes in the by-laws and constitution and such like.

Reports from the meeting, which was informal, are that next year the first round playoff will have to be settled in mid-season, not in the fall as was the case this year.

Hortonville will be backed by the Community club and expects a much stronger aggregation than the one which went through the 1937 season at the bottom of the heap.

It also was reported that several New London players of last season will be seen in County league roles with Sheicton and Lake. Some of the lads didn't like being shelved late in the Wolf River league race for importations and this year won't wear the Knapstein Brews regalia.

The other big baseball story is that the Fox river valley may have Class D baseball with a team located at Kaukauna and backed by Kaukauna and Appleton men. The idea has been talked before in the valley with nothing being done. However, this year there seems to be positive evidence that something actually will be started.

A promotional director of the national association of baseball leagues is working in the state this week and reports probably will be forthcoming in a few days as to the real prospects of the Class D circuit.

A meeting of representatives of teams which played in the Northern State league last summer has been called for Kaukauna on March 6. It will be an interesting session and will have a lot to do with baseball prospects. Last year the league functioned well enough but the larger towns did the business. Some of the smaller ones may not care for that type of ball this year and if they pull out the larger cities may be forced to go in for Class D ball or form another loop.

All of which sums up that while they are talking baseball in the valley the Class D situation must improve considerably and the Northern State league situation is a problem more about which will be known after the teams gather for their first winter meeting. Only the County league situation is favorable.

When amateur boxing in these parts was something of a baby several years ago, two lightweight boxers were a sensation and they appeared in almost every ring in the valley and eastern Wisconsin. And on Thursday evening, March 3, they'll make their first re-appearance in Armory G in five to seven years but it won't be as performers—they'll be seconds, each with a lad who is picked to go places. The former amateur was Andy Thomas, formerly of New London and now of Big Falls, and Augie Stubler, still of Sheboygan.

Thomas and Stubler were considered the best lightweight attraction in these parts years ago. They fought often and they staged great fights. Windy was rated tops as a boxer while Augie probably was a trifle better on the punching. But it always was a great show.

Thomas will second Butch Ketzman next week, Ketzman being the lad who staged a thriller with Gordon Jungwirth here in January. He's a terrific hitter but a little green on the fine points of the amateur business. Stubler will be coaching Clarence Grafenstein who will be making his first appearance here. Grafenstein has a great reputation around Sheboygan and down into Milwaukee.

The Green Bay Packers will open the pro league season on Sept. 11 with Cleveland at Green Bay. In case you are interested, The Bears will play in Milwaukee on Sept. 25 and Oct. 16. And here's the schedule for your hat:

Sept. 11—Cleveland at Green Bay.
Sept. 18—Chicago Bears at Green Bay.
Sept. 25—Chicago Cards vs Green Bay (Milwaukee).
Oct. 1—Detroit at Green Bay.
Oct. 16—Brooklyn vs Green Bay (Milwaukee).
Oct. 23—Pittsburgh at Green Bay.
Oct. 30—Green Bay at Cleveland.
Nov. 6—Green Bay at Chicago.
Nov. 13—Green Bay at Detroit.
Nov. 20—Green Bay at New York.

Dec. 4—Green Bay and Chicago Dec.

If there are any amateur basketball squads hereabout which feel they are good and want to tackle the Lawrence college freshmen in a scrimmage some afternoon at 5 o'clock they'd do well to get in touch with either Coach Ade Dillon or Coach Art Denney at Lawrence. The yearlings want competition but can't play other than during their practice periods in the late afternoon.

Captain "Tut" Grode of the Lawrence college football squad of last fall has his picture in the Scroll of Phi Delta Theta, national social fraternity publication. Phi Delta graders all over the country feature the issue.

Appleton High school reserve basketball squad has won eight of nine games this season. It lost only to Green Bay East. Warren Bueing is the high scorer with 66 points and Allan Fraser is a close second with 62. Myrlon Seims coaches the future Terrors.

MILTON SCORES WINS
Milton—(P)—Milton college remained in the running for the Tri-State conference title by defeating Northwestern college of Watertown, 40 to 23, here last night in basketball.

The final games in the Little Nine Conference basketball race will be staged this evening as two postponed contests are played. In the Western division Wrightstown will attempt to get a 500 rating with a win over Freedom at Freedom. The Wrightstown club has four wins against five defeats to date.

In the Eastern division Denmark will attempt to move into a first place tie with Kimberly through a win over Hilbert. The Danes are heavily favored.

If Denmark cops the two races will end in ties. They will not be played off.

Today a Year Ago—Larry Kelley, Yale's All-America end, refused all pro football offers: to help coach at Peddie school while taking graduate work at Princeton.

Three Years Ago—Fred M. Alzer's Azucar, seven year old former sleazebasher, won Santa Anita handicap, worth $100,000, an all-time record, to winner.

Five Years Ago—Johnny Risko won ten-round decision over King Levinsky at Madison Square Garden.

Lian K. Zech of Chicago, who qualified at 84, as an opponent.

Last year's winner, Kathryn Hemphill of Columbia, S. C., needed an 81 yesterday and encountered Mrs. T. E. Schluderberg, of Baltimore, a first fighter by virtue of an 87.

Favor Louis in Bout With Mann

New Haven Heavyweight Hopes to Floor Joe In Title Scrap

NEW YORK—(P)—Anything, or practically nothing, can happen at Madison Square Garden tonight, when Joe Louis exposes his heavyweight title for a maximum of 15 rounds against Nattie Mann, a rugged, resolute young fighter from Connecticut.

Mann, a good right-hand puncher, might possibly lay one on the big Negro's chin and pick up the marbles. On the other hand, the betting is about 3 to 1 that the affair will run true to form, that Louis either will knock Nattie kicking or slice him up like a Virginia ham.

With the house scaled from a $16.50 top, prospects were for a near-sellout with gross receipts of

FIGHT DOPE
New York—(P)—Facts and figures on tonight's Joe Louis-Nathan Mann heavyweight championship fight.

Principals—Joe Louis, Detroit, world's heavyweight champion, versus Nathan Mann, New Haven, Conn., challenger.

Place—Madison Square Garden, New York.

Time of main bout—10 p. m. Eastern Standard time.

Length—15 rounds to a decision.

Probable attendance—18,000.

Division of receipts—Louis 40 per cent, Mann 124 per cent.

Broadcast—NBC-WJZ network.

better than $100,000. Louis always draws 'em, and 4,000 were reported en route from New Haven on special trains to watch the Mann take his cut at the championship.

Risking Title
It is, in some respects, one of the strangest heavyweight title bouts on record. Mike Jacobs announced the match somewhat casually a couple months ago, but nobody appeared to take much notice until the last few days. All of a sudden it seems to have dawned that Louis actually is risking his crown against one of the better young fighters.

There has been little ballyhoo, partly because of a brooding uncertainty in the minds of the fight writers. The story first went around that Louis would "loan" his championship to Mann for a time, thus relieving himself of the necessity of fighting Mann, scheduled next June.

But it's been decided now that that wouldn't make sense, because who is Mike Jacobs to kick a million-dollar gate out the window?

Didn't Want Set-Up
No, the best belief now is that they are going at it dead on the line tonight, and that if Mann does score an improbable victory he will have to do it the hard way. He looks like a pretty tough one for Louis to be taking on this close to the Schmeling engagement, but Joe's managers declare the champ insisted he didn't want a set-up.

"Honest, he told us if he couldn't lick Mann or anybody else around this country, he wouldn't have any business fighting Schmeling," said Julian Black. Louis has given the same answer to anybody who asked him about it in training camp.

Mann, who is about three inches under the Bomber's six feet, two inches and weighs a dozen pounds less, will carry a good record into the ring. He hasn't dropped a fight in 18 months, his most notable win in that period having been a 10-round decision over Bob Pastor.

Mann Aggressive
The record, though, won't mean much tonight. Mann essentially is a stand-up, aggressive fighter and not a fancy man. He isn't such a hit-and-run expert as either Pastor or Tommy Farr, each of whom gave Louis an exasperating evening. Mann figures to get hit plenty, and everything depends upon whether he can absorb Joe's blasts and ask for more. Anybody who can do that, of course, has a chance.

There's no thought in Mann's mind, or anyone's else, that he can outbox the rangy young champion for 15 rounds. Mann's only effort in a long siege of training has been toward perfecting a terrific right to the head and under the heart. He doesn't think any fighter has given Louis' body a real testing. He's going to throw that right and hope. Schmeling did it, didn't he?

12 Teams Enter 6-Day Bike Race at Milwaukee
Milwaukee—(P)—Riders forming 12 teams will wheel their bicycles to the starting line tonight for the opening of Milwaukee's seventh international six-day bike race.

The individual race is showing signs of developing into a duel between Green Bay's two crack players, Bob Monard of East and Bob Wilson of West. The Red Devil forward has boosted his scoring total to 82 for eight games, an average of 10.2 points per contest, while the Wildcat center is in second place with 75 markers in nine games.

Third is held by Sheboygan's John Keppel, who has scored 63 points; fourth is occupied by Vernon Anderson of West, with 61; and fifth is held by Stan Gores of Fond du Lac, with 59.

NEW YORK (4) — Nathan Mann is a good strong kid, but if he lasts longer than six rounds tonight Joe Louis will have gone back plenty. Edward E. Rozmarynoski, trainer of the Marquette athletic team is a good sport. When on the road with his charges he always earns votes of thanks from hotel clerks by invariably registering as "Rosy"...

Ellsworth Vines and Fred Perry are making plenty of dough for themselves, but how about their backers? Prof. Billy McCarney, the suave New York fight manager, is shaking hands with himself for getting $15,000 as Steve Dundas that tune-up with Max Schmeling.

Armstrong, Rightmire Tapering Off for Bout
Chicago (4) — Featherweight champion Henry Armstrong and Everett Rightmire of Sioux City, Iowa, began tapering off today for their 10 round non title bout here Friday night.

The champion faced another ring workout, but trainer Sam Buxbaum said Rightmire would content himself with light exercises and would take a complete rest tomorrow.

Both stepped through brisk boxing sessions yesterday. Armstrong, who has won 32 of his last 34 bouts via knockouts, cut his short by stopping Bill Lockett in the first round. Rightmire went two rounds with Al Manriquez, also of Sioux City, and two more with Johnny Helstrom.

Wega, Iola Enter Marion Tourney

Former Expected to Give Pure Golds Battle For Honors

Marion—Weyauwega and Iola High school basketball teams, members of the Central Wisconsin conference, have been named to show in the Marion Class C tourney which opens here next week. Wega is considered the biggest threat to Marion's tournament hopes.

The Weyauwega team is above average for the conference and is paced by Hertz, a sophomore forward and high scorer, Bartel, a senior, plays the other forward while Grancoribitz, center, is a sophomore. Buchholtz, a senior guard, is small but handles himself well and is paired with Hanemann, a junior.

Wega's record for the season: Weyauwega 28, Scandinavia 12. Weyauwega 17, Winneconne 11. Weyauwega 20, Tigerton 12. Weyauwega 13, Marion 32. Weyauwega 24, Manawa 28. Weyauwega 17, Waupaca 16. Iola hasn't the best record in the conference but is a team which may furnish a few upsets. Composed largely of underclassmen, the team lacks height but has speed. Taylor, a senior, plays one forward and is an excellent ball handler. His mate is Adams, a junior, and the team's high scorer. Faulkes shows at center with Sorenson and Budsberg as the guards. The former is a sophomore and the latter a junior.

The season's record: Iola 23, Rosdahl 14. Iola 20, Amherst 11. Iola 23, Wittenberg 24. Iola 15, Manawa 19. Iola 18, Amherst 12. Iola 25, Scandinavia 12. Iola 14, Weyauwega 31. Iola 26, Waupaca 28. Iola 20, Manawa 27. Iola 38, Amherst 21. Iola 23, Rosdahl 11. Iola 15, Marion 24.

LITTLE CHUTE Legion cagers tucked an Outagamie County league game in the bag at Black Creek last night by staving off a fourth quarter rally by the Black Creek Merchants and scored a close 40 to 38 victory. Little Chute jumped into an 11 to 7 lead at the end of the first quarter and held a thin 18 to 15 margin at the halfway mark. The Black Creek squad trailed, 31 to 24, at the start of the final frame and made a desperate effort to overcome the Little Chute quint but its efforts fell short.

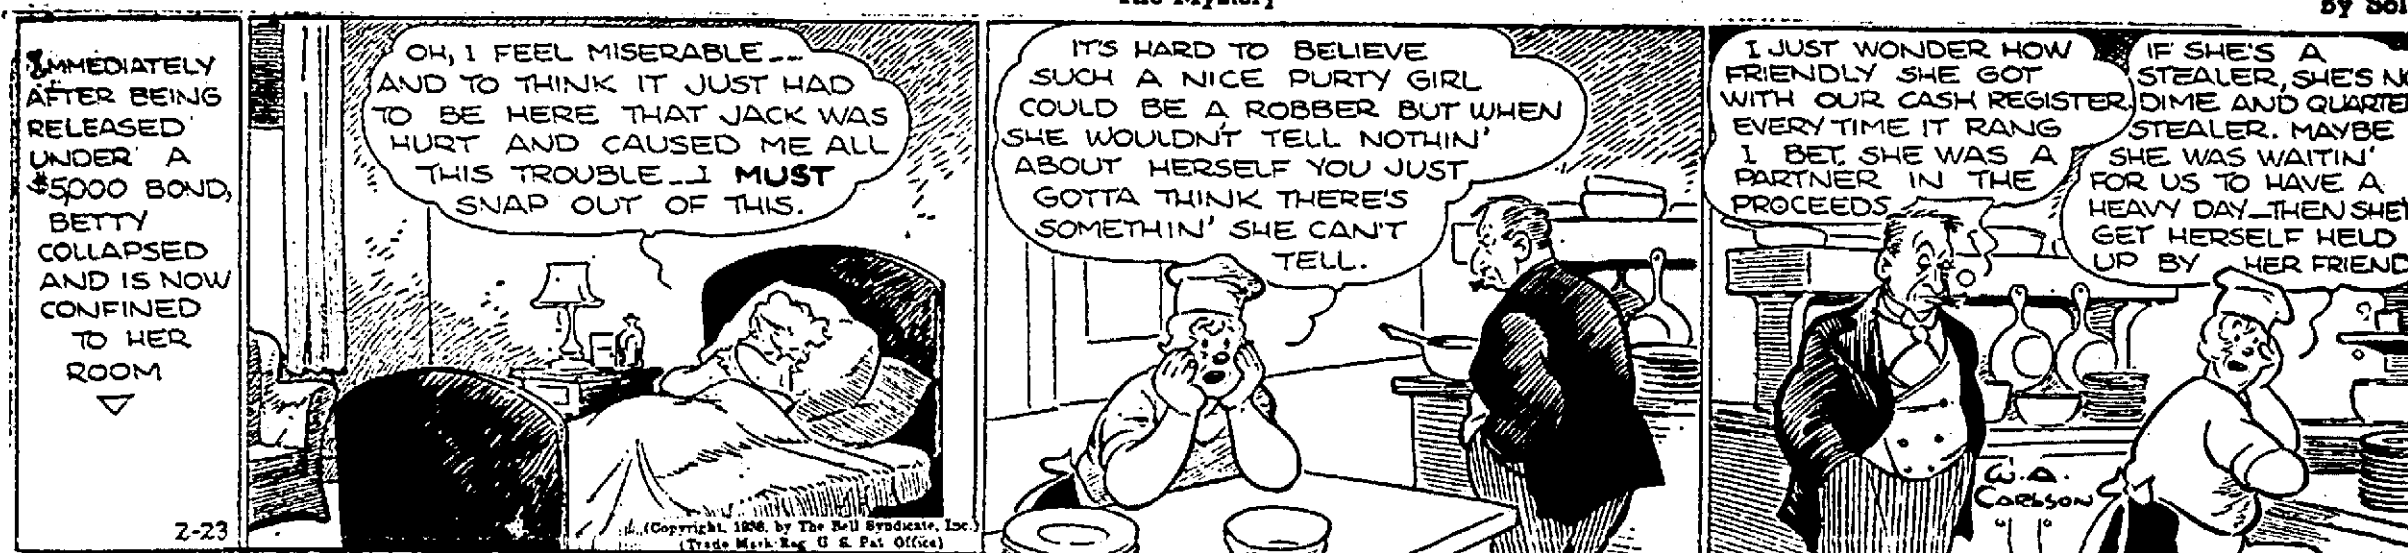

The Vikes looked like a baseball infield crotching a triple play in most of their baskets. Two three's and sometimes four men and the precision with which they clicked thrilled the crowd. And when it wasn't the passing that thrilled it was a sensational one-hand flip.

EMPIRE FOR A LADY

SYNOPSIS: While revolting Dyak tribes besiege Rajah Mantusen and the Malays, James Clyde, trader and gun-runner, faces the greatest decision of his life. A young English girl, Christine Forrester, is behind the war, completing a plan of her dead father for Dyak freedom. Clyde and myself (Paul Thorne) have stumbled into a fantastic situation. The rajah thinks Clyde controls the Dyaks and offers him governorship of Balingong--and has stayed, in one of those final efforts to double which have betrayed so many island men. We talked for a long time there on the afterdeck, slowly, Clyde jerking out an occasional mumbled sentence, with long pauses between. Though he was hardly thinking of me at all, I had never been closer to my uncle than I was that night. And that essential love of home which was his mainspring had never been so visible. He was confronted with the greatest opportunity of his life, and he knew it for what it was--an incredible, unpredictable break of the luck. And the strongest instinct he had was forbidding him to accept it. There were a thousand dangers, and a thousand ways in which the project could break down that was true. But on the other hand, no dream of development was so ambitious as to be out of the question for Balingong raj. Some day Balingong could have miles of rice paddies, and coconut groves, and rubber camps in the jungle. There could be acres of platforms for drying fish and shrimp. A channel could be flumed through Siderong bar, and a line of warehouses run from Balingong town to the bay. The Siderong would be safe for trade for the first time in 300 years.

High School Play Group to Present Comedy in 3 Acts

Unusual Properties, Costumes Will Feature Production Friday

New London—Unusual stage properties, curious native costumes and a stream of laugh-provoking lines will feature the presentation of "American, Very Early," the 3-act comedy to be staged by the New London Thespian troupe at Washington High school auditorium at 8 o'clock Friday evening.

Members of the cast have been exploring their homes and out-of-the-way places in search of material to serve as antiques around which the play centers. The production is longer than most high school plays but diligent rehearsing under the direction of H. H. Brockhaus has made the show ready for presentation.

Some of the cast of 19 will present sketches of the play at Lincoln Junior High school Wednesday afternoon and at the assembly program at Washington High school Thursday afternoon. A special preview for all grade school children will be held at 2:15 Friday afternoon.

Audrey Dean, non-Thespian junior, was called into the play last week to take one of the leading roles—as Nippy Andrews, a partner in the antique business—when Alice Stanley, sophomore, withdrew from the Thespian troupe.

Set New Attendance Record at Meeting of New London Unit

New London—Four more new scouts joined American Legion Troop 7 at its regular meeting at the clubhouse last night. The presence of 31 scouts set a new record of attendance and membership for the troop. The formation of four new patrols is being planned.

The new tenderfoot applicants are Francis Huebner, Russell Heimbruch, George Smith and Lynette Otis. Henry Christiansen and Al Kuehlman, fathers of two of the scouts, volunteered to assist the Rev. R. R. Holliday, scoutmaster, in handling the increased number of boys assisted at the meeting last night.

The scoutmaster led a discussion on the life of George Washington and pointed out the model scout character of the father of the United States. Many new members of the troop completed tenderfoot tests after the discussions.

The New London scouts will attend a contest between the first and second teams of Marion and Kimberly troops at the American Legion clubhouse at 7:30 this evening.

The two teams tied for first place in the finals of a Valley council contest at Menasha last Saturday and arranged to meet here at the half-way point to decide the title.

The New London team has been improving since it played its first game several weeks ago. At Oshkosh Monday night the team won one out of five games in an overtime contest, 16 to 14. Lack of experience and fumbles cost the team the first four games by close scores of 15-5, 15-11 and 15-10.

Those who want to Oshkosh were Ray Matka, Vern Blonday, W. T. Moxted, Walter Stewart, James Lockyear, Art Bunke, Richard Brown, Ray Smith, and Robert Shortell, director.

Trends in Prose Topic at Meeting

Mrs. Tom Browne Principal Speaker at Monday Night Club Session

Waupaca—In discussing "Modern Trends in American Prose" before members of the Monday Night club, Mrs. Tom Browne opened her lesson by reviewing the various books used in the preparation of the lesson, at the same time acquainting her listeners with the authors of the books to which she referred. "After the Gentle Tradition" by Malcolm Cowley and "I Hear America" by Vernon Loggins were the books discussed.

The "gentle tradition" is the intermingling of Victorianism in England and American puritanism on the Atlantic seaboard.

Beginning with 1895, writers revolted against this tradition, every phase of it, and became distinctly anti-puritan. The revolt created a new literary movement in America which resulted in the "conglomerate" written at the beginning of the nineteenth century. From then until 1929 this revolt took different forms, stated Mrs. Browne, according to the political and social conditions of the times.

Dr. Henry Van Dyke, gentle writer and member of the old order, criticized severely the Nobel award to Sinclair Lewis in 1930, but he would have criticized any author at that time because of his antagonism to the new American literature. According to Mrs. Browne this Nobel award to Lewis was the Swedish way of saying, "We have cut all the old apron strings."

From 1900 to 1914 America was intellectually asleep, decidedly satisfied, believing herself to be the finished product.

The period between 1914 and 1918 brought war-hysteria, a tumbling of ideas and ideals, and the years between 1918 and 1929 Mrs. Browne characterized as a period of despair when the world and America seemed a waste land, decidedly emotional and not at all stable. The years since then present a new age, not yet complete, with four types of writers: the serious, highly educated group; those warmly sincere and realistic; the extremely popular and the writers of genuine and lasting literature, picturing life as it is today.

Miss Pearl Chamberlain was in charge of arrangements for music for the evening. A trio comprising the Misses Helen and Louis Sill and Aleine Miller sang two numbers, "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia," by request, and "When You and I Were Young, Maggie." They were accompanied by Miss Laura Shoemaker at the piano.

EMPIRE FOR A LADY

BY ALAN LEMAY

of resources, had made himself recognized ruler of an independent nation covering more territory than England. If the luck held long enough, Brooke's great accomplishment might in some part be duplicated here.

But—the fulfillment of such a dream costs the lives of more men than die for it. The living also must bury themselves in such a labor. James Clyde, out of whose everlasting effort all this must be built, would never see snow again. He would never again eat a "sour-cherry pie on a New England morning" with his "uncle" and the maple syrup hollers sweetening the clean air of a spring thaw. Little things to stand in the way of empire, perhaps; but dearer to certain men than hope.

In Love
Whenever I thought of spending all the rest of my life sweating under the blanket of the Balingong heat, dreams of empire lost most of their glow. Even our ship herself seemed unhappy and dispirited here; her lofty trucks kept weaving restlessly against the state, or smelt there was no perceptible swell. The Lingang had a Chinese name now, but she had been built for a whaler out of Gloucester. Like all the rest of us, she knew she was a long way from home.

"Don't know how to tell Christine," my uncle kept mumbling. And now I began to see something else which I should have seen before, and expected, but which I had been too stupid to suspect. The real trouble with my uncle was not his kris wound. James Clyde was in love with Christine!

Why not? Already I was a good deal more than half in love with her myself. Miles away from any other white woman, the most ordinary girl in the world takes on an unbelievable glamour, until it is hard to believe that there is anything else like her anywhere. And this girl was very far from ordinary. Her courage, her acute knowledge of a part of the world few men knew anything about, her loyalty to the purposes her father had conceived—these were extraordinary enough. But they were less important than the low tones of her voice, which could bring me alive in ways I had forgotten; or her eyes, which could haunt a man for a long time. To us Christine was many things. At this moment she was probably sitting beside Robert Forrester's bunk, feeding her brother with a spoon. She was a girl in silk, among silver tea-things on the Avon's afterdeck; and she was a girl in slacks, talking to me of Dyaks while the emblem of the Tanyalang dangled at her wrist. She was a tired ghost in a smoke-grey robe—and she was the steadying reality I had moored to through those hours of nightmare inside Mantusen's stockade. But she was much more than all this—she was everything a white man says goodbye to when the tropics swallow him up.

I should have foreseen that she would get under the skin of any man 10 years from home. But I had not had time for it, and now it knocked the wind out of me. And I felt worse as it seemed to me now that Christine was also in love with Clyde.

As I thought about it I imagined that her eyes were warm and personal when they were on Clyde, whereas they were only argumentative when she looked at me. I was able to see new and unnecessary meanings in the fact that she had dismissed me and spent the day with Clyde. Why shouldn't she be struck with him? He had decision, and easy force. He was no farther out of his youth than was necessary to gain for him a quality of understanding which women seem to appreciate in men. And the two responded to each other. Clyde, feeling the need of talking to somebody for once, admitted the effect she had had upon him.

Lifelong Exile
"I'd give anything in the world," he told me, "if I could take this girl out of here. I'd spend my life working for her, if I could do that. It's this girl that's worth a man's life work."

"Why don't you marry her," I asked bluntly. "and take her home?"

"That's hopeless, too," he said dismally. "Have you asked her?"

"It wouldn't be any use. She thinks of nothing but this revolt. 'Then it washes down to this,' I said. 'If you want the girl you're going to have to take the raj of Balingong. Maybe she wouldn't run off with you to Massachusetts—I see your point. But it'll be different if she's going to be Rane of Balingong.'"

"That's hopeless, too," he said dismally. "You know a white woman can't live in that stinking river. All I hope is that she gets back to England before her health breaks up. She's out of place here, like—like a buckwheat cake."

He was right, too. I remembered Christine here on our own deck, her eyes blue-shadowed with tiredness; I remember her shoulder slipping from its grey robe to catch whatever night breeze there was, while jungle orchids drooped from an awning stanchion beside her, wilting in the heat; and I know that this was not a place where she could live.

For Clyde to take over the raj of Balingong would be a great thing for the Dyaks, if he made work; but to Clyde it could mean nothing but the loneliness of a life-long exile. The life-and-death power over 10,000 people is undoubtedly a great trust, but in a way this was like being made king of the apes. Some day, if Balingong turned into another Singapore, it would be different, and Clyde would go down in history as an empire builder, or at least an empire extender. But of course he would not live to see that.

"I can't do it," he kept saying. "I've got to find a way to tell her I can't." And now I saw what he really feared. Christine Forrester had taken most of the hard, tough will out of him, and Clyde was aware of it. He was literally afraid of her and afraid of himself. Over there on the deck of the Avon, beside the girl he was in love with, he would have a poor chance. She would make him sit a long time while she talked to him, holding his eyes with her own, and her low voice would be weaving dreams that her whole heart went into.

In the end I told him that I would go to the Avon, and take over the job of telling Christine. He protested, of course. But I was amazed at the lack of conviction in his objections. I had never seen him in such a state before. "You're getting a bad fever out of the wound," I insisted. "It's your plain duty to keep yourself out of the scupper—remember you've got to fight this ship. Suppose the Malays find you reeling around here counting the masts—what happens to the Avon then?"

Miss Doris Duecker, teacher in the lower grades of the public school, spent the weekend at Kiel with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Duecker.

Joe Marx is ill at his home here with inflammatory rheumatism. Miss Jennie Ziskind left here this week end for Milwaukee where she will be employed.

"Fever be damned," he mumbled. But by his lack of force I knew that he was licked.

How will Christine accept Clyde's decision? Continued tomorrow.

Kansas City Government Gives Value for Dollar

BY WESTBROOK FEGLER

Kansas City—Tom Pendergast's city administration, composed of a mayor and a council of nine, comes up for re-election on March 29 and the opposition is crying in a pale voice that the city's self-respect must be restored. That is weak talk, because it is admitted that this rotten machine does a good job of running the services and financial affairs of the town and gives a far better dollar's worth of government than Kelly and Nash give in Chicago or Hague gives in Jersey City.

Moreover, the opposition consists of an alliance of sorehead Democrats and emaciated Republicans and by its ineffectiveness to date confirms the unwisdom of hitching up the ass with the ox. Of course, the coalition promises reform in a large, general way, but on the basis of past performances in this and many other cities, that just means another morality drive and the eventual imprisonment of a few greasy craps-shooters and some poor, scrawny trollops and business agents thereof.

There is no reason to believe that the coalition could economize below the present cost of government, improve the service or restrain the natural impulse of elated politicians to load the payrolls with electioneers who might outnumber the deserving Democrats of Pendergast's mob and do worse work if any.

The exasperating truth about the old saloon-keeper's mob is that its thieving on big things at the city hall is subject to the veto of old Judge Henry McElroy, the city manager, who is proud of his reputation for thrift.

Public Morals No Concern Of His Office

The nature of his office does not make him officially concerned with public morals or police work except in the phase of appropriations. If the machine shakes down the gamblers and the madams and takes a cut off the salary of every cop, fireman and clerk in the public service, that would be outside his department, although he did give your correspondent the full gaze of his honest eyes, as guileless as an ace in the hole, and say without a flicker that the old saloon-keeper's machine positively did not accept any lug or shake from either the gamblers or the girls.

Judge McElroy is big business, and when he talked Henry Ford out of his plan to abandon the struck Ford plant in Kansas City his message to the press, as he returned to town, was a hand-wrought poem composed on the train.

Everything is lovely and the goose hangs high. Soon you'll be watching the Fords roll by. He found Henry a kindred soul and talked to him like a Dutch uncle to save the industry for Kansas City. He is the spirit of the chamber of commerce.

So what about the moral tone, the civil humiliation and the city's self-respect?

Before going into that let us let down our hair and admit that these things are mere mayonnaise and that Tom Pendergast gives business, the best people and the underworld a very close approximation of what they want from local government. Then let us forget about the moral tone, civic humiliation and the city's self-respect. They are for the luxury trade.

Business is protected against rough stuff in strikes, taxes are not bad, the police are straining their stripes to keep down robbery and motor theft in campaign time at
